Liberals Weather Barrage

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the new ministers were nervous. Otherwise the Liberal government weathered its first big test in the Commons with a willing exchange of political barbs.

Stretching to a lengthy hour and 15 minutes, the initial question period was heavily laden with queries — and answers — framed as much for political scores as information. Speaker Alan Macnaughton's calls to order were infrequent but firm.

TORIES JEER

At one point, the gleeful Conservative opposition benches burst into jeers and laughter when, having challenged Finance Minister Walter Gordon to "unpeg" the dollar, they got this reply: ". . . In my view it is the responsibility of all honorable members of this House . . . not to cast any doubts upon the strength or permanence of the dollar."

When in opposition, the Liberals were severely critical of the former Conservative government's decision in May, 1962 to peg the dollar to 92½ cents in exchange for the American dollar.

HOLD DOLLAR LINE

Mr. Gordon said Friday the government will do everything possible to hold the dollar to its present exchange rate.

In his dignified manner, Justice Minister Lionel Chevrier scored one for the Liberals by telling Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) that departmental files reveal no trace of any legal opinion on which the former government imposed import surcharges by order-in-council last June.

"AS SUSPECTED"

This was as the Libers', when in opposition, "suspected at the time," Mr. Chevrier said. The Conservatives were silent.

It recalled the bitter scrap of last session when the opposition tried unsuccessfully to get finance minister Donald Fleming to table the legal opinion. Several suits now have been filed in the Exchequer Court of Canada to recover the surcharges, since dismantled.

SHORT SPEECHES

Moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Pauline Jewett (L — Northumberland) spoke less than 15 minutes instead of the 40 minutes to which she was entitled. The seconder, Auguste Choquette (L-Lotbiniere), took less than 20 minutes.

The debate resumes Monday when the House meets at 2:30 p.m. EDT. It will be the so-called "leader's day" — with speeches from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, Prime Minister Pearson, Social Credit Leader Thompson and New Democratic Leader Douglas, in that order.

Man Injured

An unidentified elderly man's leg was severely injured at midnight when he was struck by a motorcycle on Douglas near the Roundabout.

Cooper Saw Neighborhood

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper marveled Friday at the clarity with which he could pin-point spots on earth from more than 100 miles in space. He even spotted his own neighborhood in Houston, Tex.

* * *

"It was an ideal day for an ideal flight," Cooper told Capt. Richard Pollard, the recovery physician. (See also Page 11.)

The astronaut said he could see smoke curling from houses in Tibetan villages and was amazed at the grandeur of the Himalayas. He said he also saw clearly a ground lighting experiment in South Africa.

* * *

The experiment was designed to test the spaceman's ability to spot a light of known intensity—in this case 3,000,000 candlepower—for the future task of guiding men back from moon trips. The xenon bulb burned for three minutes in the town of Bloemfontein during Cooper's sixth orbit.

* * *

Cooper said he saw all of the Florida coast and as far north as Washington or New York.

Cooper said he awoke from one of his orbiting catnaps startled to discover his weightless arms outstretched in front of him. When he decided to settle back for his 7½-hour snooze, he said, he tucked his thumbs under his harness straps to keep his hands from accidentally flipping a switch while he slept. Russian cosmonauts also took this precaution.

* * *

Pollard said Cooper also told him he had dreamed during his flight "but he doesn't recall the contents of the dream." Ground physicians had suspected Cooper was dreaming when his heartbeat, monitored by sensors, quickened suddenly and then returned to normal.

Liquor Store Staff Suspended

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — The manager and four-man staff of the British Columbia government liquor store here were suspended following an investigation by the Liquor Control Board, it was reported Friday.

Col. Donald McGugan, liquor board chairman, would not comment on the report other than to say that it was an internal matter.

U.S. Cuts Relations With Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has cut off all diplomatic contacts with the Haitian government of Francois Duvalier for the past three days, officials disclosed.

State department informants said the action was not a formal "suspension" of diplomatic relations in the usual diplomatic sense of the word.

* * *

"There just haven't been any contacts," one official said. He said there had been no diplomatic contacts between the U.S. embassy in Port-au-Prince and the Haitian government or between the Haitian embassy here since Tuesday night.

Officials here said that if some incident occured requiring diplomatic contacts, they could be immediately re-established as though there had been no break.

* * *

Such a case might arise if an American citizen in Haiti were arrested and in need of diplomatic protection.

Flood Aid 100 Per Cent

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — A policy providing for 100 per cent compensation for residential property and 80 per cent for personal effects was established Friday by the Northwest Territories council for flood-stricken residents of Hay River and Fort Simpson.

Compensation costs will be shared by the territorial and federal governments.

SUGAR STIRS WATCHDOGS

From CP and AP

Government anti-combines investigators are checking sugar prices, the House of Commons was told Friday as the wholesale price of sugar was pushed to $16 per 100 pounds by one Montreal sugar refinery.

Wholesale price Jan. 1 was $9.10.

Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) asked Justice Minister Chevrier if he had made inquiries regarding prices in Canada rising "drastically" compared with those in the U.S.

Mr. Chevrier replied information indicates that was not the case, but the combines branch was looking into the matter.

BEET PRODUCTION

Agriculture Minister Harry Hays, replying to an earlier question, said measures to stimulate sugar beet production are under consideration.

In Montreal, three major sugar refineries announced price increases of 75 cents per 100 pounds. These included Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., St. Lawrence Sugar Refineries Ltd. and Canada and Dominion Sugar Co. Ltd.

RAISED AGAIN

A short time later, Canada and Dominion Sugar said it had raised its price again, this time by 10 cents. It was the fifth increase this week for Canada and Dominion Sugar, the fourth for the other refineries.

In New York, there was speculation sugar price hikes soon will be reflected at the grocery store level in higher prices for candy, preserves, soft drinks, ice cream, syrups and other sugar-using items.

SMALLER PACKS

They may even lead to smaller packs of chewing gum, one producer said.

But nothing was in sight to match the doubling of retail prices that has hit some communities in Brazil, and severe dislocations in some other countries.

In the background is a tightening of the world sugar supply rooted in crop troubles and harvest difficulties in Europe, Cuba and other growing areas.

The shortage sent sugar issues spiralling on the New York Stock Exchange.

A wholesale price increase by major New York-based refiners earlier this week was the 12th of the year, lifting one key grade to $14.20 for 100 pounds.

ABRUPT COLLAPSE

The level was the highest since the world-wide sugar shortage following the First World War when prices skyrocketed to roughly twice the present height, then abruptly collapsed.

Some experts predict a continued climb until fall when growers in the U.S. and Europe begin harvesting sugar beets, a cheaper substitute for the scarce variety produced from cane.

NEW ENGLAND

Already, many housewives in the New England area are paying seven cents more for a five-pound bag or carton of sugar, the result of gradual increases in recent months.

Several candymakers have reported rises in wholesale prices, and some—including the Walter H. Johnson Candy Company of Chicago—say they are considering a reduction in the size of bars.

* * *

Candy, Cookies

Confections Face Rise

Wholesale sugar prices hit a new high in Canada Friday and it looks as if the increase will be reflected in consumer costs for candy and cookies.

But indications are carbonated beverages will stay at the same price . . . at least for the time being.

"I think any commodity related to sugar, our own included, will have to go up," A. W. O'Keeffe, Victoria representative for Paulin Chambers Ltd., said last night.

EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

"Our latest quote from head office is there will be an increase in the price of biscuits effective June 1 at the wholesale level.

"Cost of bulk candy has risen very slightly on two occasions recently and there possibly will be a slight reduction in the weight of bag candy and chocolate bars to keep them at 10 cents. Our box chocolates have gone up four to five cents a box."

Noel Wolfe, managing director of Victoria Beverages Ltd., said he could not forecast a price rise in the immediate future.

"We had an increase two weeks ago at the wholesale level—15 cents a case. It is up to the retailer how he sets his prices, of course, but we kept it as small as possible.

ALL DEPENDS

"There is no intent to make a move again, for the time being. It all depends on how high the price goes."

For the housewife, the skyrocketing price of sugar is definitely reflected in her food bill. In January a 10-pound bag of sugar cost 97 cents; today it will cost $1.77.

Frail Boy Pulls Man from Tracks

MALDEN, Mass. (UPI)—A 13-year-old asthmatic boy dragged a 67-year-old man off railroad tracks Thursday seconds before a train sped by. He then hurried away so he wouldn't be late for instructions from a tutor.

* * *

Police said Paul Broussard, who had suffered from asthma since birth and weighs only 72 pounds, was on his way to special classes when he saw a man trip on railroad tracks while trying to get out of the way of a train.

Paul raced to the track and pulled the man, Francis O'Rourke, to safety as the train sped by, inches away.

* * *

The boy, who did not identify himself then turned and hurried away. He was en route to special tutoring classes to make up for school time lost because of illness.

Police, train officials and others were trying to identify the heroic child when, hours later, Mrs. Louis Broussard was discussing a newspaper report of the incident with her son.

* * *

Paul said he had a difficult time pulling O'Rourke to safety.

"I knew the man couldn't help himself and someone had to and I was there."

Montreal Terror Spreads

MONTREAL (CP) — Terrorists struck with time - bombs placed in mail boxes Friday.

Explosions caused critical injury to an army explosives expert, shattered six mail boxes and damaged property.

Five more bombs were found in mail boxes and dismantled. Five suspected bombs were hauled to safety—mail boxes and all—to await dismantling.

Sgt.-Maj. Walter Rolland Leja, 45-year-old bomb demolition expert with the Royal Canadian Engineers, suffered serious injuries when a time-bomb he was removing from a mail box exploded.

Earlier he had dismantled one bomb and placed another in an open field to await dismantling or demolition later.

* * *

At St. Mary's Hospital, doctors amputated his left arm at the elbow, then worked on his chest and face injuries. He was on the operating table about five hours, the army said.

Police did not attribute the bombings to any person or terrorist organization. However, an outlaw separatist group—le Front de Liberation Quebecois—has claimed responsibility in mailed press statements for a series of bombings in recent months.

One such bombing, at the rear of an army recruiting station here, caused the death of night watchman W. V. O'Neill, 65, April 20.

The series of bombings Friday kept residential Westmount on the alert for more than seven hours. Westmount, a separate municipality of about 32,000 is entirely surrounded by Montreal territory in the west-central part of the city. About two-thirds of its population is English-speaking.

* * *

About 3 a.m. the first of five bombs in mail boxes exploded. The explosions, within 20 minutes, were in widely-scattered points of Westmount, including one a stone's throw from the municipality's police station.

Soldiers Injured

FREDERICTON (CP) — Six members of the 1st Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery were injured at Camp Gagetown Friday when a 105-millimetre shell exploded prematurely. The men were taking part in training exercises.

Lesage Fights Bombs With 'Special Efforts'

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage, who attended a cabinet meeting Friday against his doctor's orders, said he has asked Quebec Provincial Police to make "special efforts" to break a ring of bomb-planting terrorists in the province.

"I have asked the provincial police to make special efforts and to report to me," he said following a 2½-hour cabinet sitting.

Mr. Lesage had been ordered to rest Friday to clear up a heavy cold contracted during his recent trip to Europe.

Greensboro Jails Get 350 More

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) —Several hundred Negro college students patiently and quietly lined up front of segregated downtown cafeterias and theatres Friday night and invited arrest.

Police took about 350 of the estimated 600 unprotesting demonstrators to jail.

Next to Last Obstacle

Lock Plan Solves Columbia Problem

Next to last obstacle in making an immediate start on the controversial High Arrow Dam on the Columbia River has been removed, Lands Minister Ray Williston said yesterday.

The final obstacle is the Columbia development treaty which has not yet been ratified by Canada.

Ratification is expected this year, but meanwhile engineers working in an Ontario Hydro hydraulic laboratory have determined the feasibility of a lock system which will move pulpwood logs past the dam.

Had the use of a lock not proved feasible, more costly alternatives such as trucks or cranes would have been necessary.

The lock system, while high in initial cost — as much as $7,000,000 — may be the cheapest solution over the life of the project.

The locks will also solve the problem of how to keep the river navigable for small boats after the dam is built.

Feasibility of the locks was determined with a scale model of the dam, tiny log rafts and a scaled flow of water.

B.C. tugboat experts were called in as consultants last fall.

Work on High Arrow will probably be among the first started when the treaty is ratified and a downstream power price has been agreed upon by the U.S. and B.C.

Columbia Parley Very Soon

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Friday he hopes "very shortly indeed" to begin discussions with the British Columbia government on renegotiation of the Columbia River development treaty.

Later, David Pugh (PC — Okanagan - Boundary) asked whether a date has been set for the discussions with Premier Bennett.

No, said Mr. Pearson. He added that there still are some "preliminary questions" to be settled with the United States before any discussions with Premier Bennett would be "constructive."

He stated that Mr. Bennett already has said he is aware of the Liberal government's stand on the present treaty.

Flag in Two Years Pearson Promises

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson told the Commons Friday that his government will propose the adoption of a distinctive national flag within two years.

The prime minister was loudly applauded by Liberal back - benchers when he told Georges Valade (PC — Montreal Ste. Marie) that the government has made a commitment to the electorate to propose a distinctive flag within two years of taking office.

There was no reference to the flag issue in the Speech from the Throne read at the opening of Parliament Thursday.

Montreal Terror Spreads

About 10 a.m., postmen making their rounds to empty mail boxes began finding parcels that appeared suspicious. Police were called and experts arrived on the scene to take charge.

PARTNER NOT INJURED

Lieut. Douglas Simpson, Leja's partner, was about 10 feet behind Leja when the bomb exploded. He was not injured.

An army spokesman said bomb-disposal men in the army usually work in pairs, one doing the actual work and giving a running description of what he is doing to his partner.

FOUR STICKS

One of the bombs that Leja dismantled contained four sticks of dynamite. The other, made up of three pounds of dynamite and a ticking mechanism, was carried to a vacant lot and dismantled.

Adrian Lunny, photographer for the Montreal Star who followed Leja and Simpson, said the explosion sounded "like a 20-pounder cannon being fired."

POLICE EXPERT

Det. - Sgt. Leo Plouffe, the bomb disposal expert of Montreal city police, joined in the work, hopping from one bomb site to another in his yellow convertible.

He removed one bomb from a mail box and took it to a vacant city lot in the north end of town and caused it to explode out of harm's way. He dismantled two other bombs found in Montreal proper.

SAFE PLACES

Policemen, firemen and soldiers joined in hauling five mail boxes believed to contain time bombs to relatively safe places. They set heavy trucks and sandbags around them to absorb the shock if they exploded.

The army planned to dismantle or cause to explode under protective shields any bombs suspected to be in the mail boxes.

Three of these were in Westmount. The fourth was taken from the front of the building of the 2nd Technical Regiment of the Royal Canadian Electrical and Mechanical Engineers, in northeastern Montreal—several miles from Westmount.

During the mid - morning flurry of activity, all schools in Westmount were told to keep children inside during the lunch hour until all suspected bombs were removed, cordoned off or dismantled.

Scrap Coming Up Over Fisheries?

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons heard a hint Friday of a possible political scrap over the Liberal government's decision to implement the recommendations of the North Pacific Fisheries Commission.

T. C. Douglas, New Democratic Party leader, asked whether the government sought a legal opinion on whether it could take the decision by executive order.

ALL INFORMATION

Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud replied that the government had all information available to it before the decision was made.

Implementation of the international agency's recommendation opened to Japanese fishermen the catch of halibut in the Bering Sea and herring off the Queen Charlotte Islands.

B.C. COLLEAGUES

Barry Mather (NDP — New Westminster) asked Mr. Robichaud whether he had much opposition from his B.C. cabinet colleagues — Forestry Minister Jack Nicholson and Northern Affairs Minister Arthur Laing—in reaching the decision.

Mr. Robichaud said the decision was taken by all government members.

Two Heads For Agriculture

OTTAWA (CP) — The government took the initial legislative step Friday to give the agriculture department two ministers — one for Western Canada and the other for the East. A notice of a resolution sponsored by Prime Minister Pearson and leading to legislation was published in Commons Journals.

The legislation will "provide that the department shall be presided over by a minister of agriculture (East) and a minister of agriculture (West)."

When the Pearson government was sworn in, Harry Hays, mayor of Calgary, was named minister of agriculture, and Rene Tremblay, MP for Matapedia - Matane, was appointed a minister without portfolio. Mr. Pearson announced that when the new legislation is passed, Mr. Tremblay will become minister of Eastern agriculture.

No Decision So Far On NATO

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian government has not reached a final decision on its stand on a multi-national or inter - allied nuclear force for NATO, Prime Minister Pearson said Friday.

However, he indicated in the Commons that a decision will be made within the next few days and instructions will be given to Canadian delegates to the NATO ministerial meeting which opens here next Wednesday.

Mr. Pearson, replying to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, said he may have something to say on the subject during the throne speech debate which opens Monday.

But he told Mr. Diefenbaker that the nature of government instructions to delegates to international conferences are not made public beforehand.

Patience, Good Judgment, Time Work Wonders with Milk Leg

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 78 years old and have milk leg. At first it was swollen from ankle to hip. Rest and elevation were the only treatment.

Will exercise help or hinder the condition? The leg is still swollen from ankle to knee after a month of rest. —Mrs. M. B.

Milk leg, which can occur any time from medium to advanced age, is technically known as phlebitis.

VEIN INFLAMED

In plain language, this means that a vein of the leg, and occasionally more than one, has become inflamed, causing swelling of the vein tissues. The swelling reduces circulation. Reduced circulation makes the surrounding tissues swell, too, because fluids which reach them are not as quickly carried away as they should be.

What causes milk leg? An injury perhaps. A clot. The accumulation of some sort of inflammation in a vein. Or continued irritation somewhere along the route of the vein.

Rest is important. So is elevation of the leg because this helps the flow of blood through the inflamed, constricted vein. Pushing blood back toward the heart from the toes is, because of the force of gravity, much more difficult than forcing it back from any other part of the body.

Massage, rubbing and exercise (at that stage of the ailment) can add to the irritation and make the situation worse, just as you wouldn't expect to cure an infected finger by massaging it or exercising it. The inflammation must first subside.

At the proper time, elastic bandages help, but you have to wait until they give support to a vein that is regaining healthy vigor.

DRUGS HELP

Anti-inflammatory drugs, as phenylbutazone, can be helpful, and so can some of the newer enzyme preparations which can be taken by mouth.

In today's case the swelling, which at first extended to the hip, is now down to the knee. This indicates that the simple but boring treatment of "rest and elevation" is doing some good. There is no quick, dramatic way to correct milk leg, but patience, good judgment and time can work wonders.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Do you consider it risky for a woman of 65 to have a gall bladder operation?—Mrs. S. L.

No, I don't. Nor for patients many years older. When such surgery is necessary avoidance of it can be risky.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Please discuss the effects of coffee, decaffeinized coffee, artificial sweeteners and carbonated water as to their effect on the kidneys.—R.W.R.

Caffein, whether in coffee or other drinks, is a diuretic or kidney stimulator. Therefore excessive coffee can cause frequency of urination. De-caffeinized coffee and carbonated beverages have no more specific action than the same amount of water. Artificial sweeteners? No effect.

France This Time

Flights Banned

PARIS (UPI)—The French government Friday banned flights into France by the two major U.S. international air carriers until they raise their trans-Atlantic rates to conform to a decree of the International Air Transport Association.

One of the carriers, Trans-World Airlines, promptly applied to the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington for permission to raise its round-trip economy class fares to France —and Germany and Portugal as well.

The other carrier, Pan American World Airways, said it had not yet asked for the fare increases but "ultimately we will."

IATA decided last year economy fares would be increased by five per cent. The CAB told Pan Am and TWA not to increase their fares. Britain promptly told the American carriers to increase fares or be banned from landing.

After a diplomatic hassle involving the state department, the CAB backed down.

Opposition Threatens Air Rate Setup

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—North American opposition to a $27 increase in trans-Atlantic economy round-trip airline fares threatened to wreck a complex new world rate structure, H. Don Reynolds, International Air Transport Association traffic director, says.

Little Willie Drives 'Em Silly

WASHINGTON—Little Willie Crook, 2, loves the excitement of modern-day traffic.

He climbed into a neighbor's 1960 Cadillac, let the brake loose and rolled down his street, smashing three other cars and causing damage of $2,000.

Troubled father L. L. Crook said that, only two weeks before, a policeman brought Willie home from a nearby street where he had been directing traffic. * * *

UNITED NATIONS—A heart attack killed Omar Loutfi, 55, of the United Arab Republic, political affairs aid to U Thant. A month ago, Loutfi took over the duties of Thant's security council aide, Evgeny Kiselev of Russia, when a heart attack killed him.

* * *

GIBRALTAR — Billy Wallace, 34, was admitted to hospital with kidney trouble. Doctors said the condition of the former escort of Princess Margaret is "serious."

* * *

VIENNA—Doctors said the condition of King Saud, 61, of Saudi Arabia, under treatment for a stomach ailment, has deteriorated.

* * *

MOSCOW — Russia expelled British embassy second secretary Gervase Cowell, 37, and his wife, on charges of involvement in the Wynne-Penkovsky spy network. Of 12 western diplomats named at the trial, only the Cowells still were here.

* * *

OTTAWA — A charge of impaired driving in the crash that killed visiting Russian scientist Vladimir Cheremkhinov, 33, May 3 was withdrawn against Soviet embassy clerk Leonid Tchelerayaken, who is being returned to Russia.

* * *

LAGOS — Chief Anthony Enahoro pleaded innocent in high court on treason charges and the Nigerian prosecutor said the maximum sentence was life imprisonment. Enahoro fought a vain five-month legal battle to prevent extradition from Britain.

* * *

BRUSSELS—King Baudouin and Queen Fabiola returned from a four-day state visit to Britain, accompanied by Foreign Minister Spaak, who said the visit "could not have been more successful . . . the king and queen conquered London."

* * *

LOS ANGELES — Lucius Simpson, 80, lost control of his car and ended up inside the lost and found room of a transit building—car and all. Damage was extensive, injuries minor.

* * *

CALGARY — District court Judge William Sellar, praising police handling of recent call girl trials which convicted seven women and two men, said: "I'm proud to be a member of the courts which handed down sentences neither sadistic nor excessive." The judge, not involved in the trials, said they bared "a syndicate . . . which has plagued many cities. This thing got completely out of hand."

ALGIERS—Cuban Premier Castro will visit Algeria at the end of this month or the beginning of June.

Haiti Regime Recognized By Dahomey

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — The African Negro Republic of Dahomey signed a cultural agreement with Haiti Friday which in effect recognized the continued legality of the Francois Duvalier regime.

The U.S. and several Latin American nations contend Duvalier is holding office illegally because his constitutional six-year term as president ended May 15. Duvalier contends he was re-elected to a second six-year term in 1961.

Goodbye, city

Hello, adventure!

Here comes Evinrude, searching adventure as she always does. And by morning she'll taste it.

She'll find adventure at a quiet land's end. Or in an angry stretch of white water. Or maybe as she rests on a hidden beach.

(Adventure, are you there? If you are you'll get found. Don't fight it.)

This outboard is a powerhouse, a thrill-seeker, a dynamo, an explorer. Yet, with all this verve, she'll sneak up quietly on adventure.

So, goodbye, city. There goes Evinrude on her way to Bigger Things.

A Good Move

THERE IS LITTLE to find fault with in the University of British Columbia's decision to raise its admittance standards commencing next year.

In announcing the new policy, President John Macdonald made it clear that the change was being instituted because of the high (30 per cent) student failure rate at the university. Commenting on the situation, he said that the failure rate should never exceed 15 per cent and suggested that high school grades should be made tougher to prepare students for college-level education.

Dr. Macdonald is right and his suggestion is good. For far too long Canadian universities as a whole have been setting their sights too low—a practice which cannot help but result in consistently high failure rates among students and an even higher "dropping out" rate among freshmen.

The high schools must take their share of the blame for this situation—either their courses are too easy or they have failed to teach their pupils. Whatever the cause the fact remains that nearly one-third of their finished product which goes forward to higher education of the university type fails—and fails miserably.

Nor can the students themselves escape some responsibility in the matter. A good many of them continue to look upon college as a sort of club devoted in the main to social activities rather than an educational institution calling for hard work and mental agility.

No doubt half-a-dozen remedies could be found to rectify these and other weaknesses, but it must be said that Dr. Macdonald has chosen the most effective means of all.

If UBC sticks to its declared purpose the other problems will have to be met head on by those who are involved in them.

Hard on the Poor

A NEW METHOD of municipal assessment proposed to the royal commission on taxation by a private citizen, Mr. Roger Pocock of Woodbridge, Ont., conceivably might go a long way toward ending cities' urban renewal troubles. Not for that reason particularly, but because he thinks the present system of valuing property for taxation is outdated and illogical, Mr. Pocock would have deterioration penalized instead of rewarded.

His proposals, among others, are that assessors should inspect properties annually and when a house or building is found to be poorly kept, the assessment should be raised for the following year; that land used for unsightly outside storage, or held vacant in a developed area, should be given a higher value for taxation than if otherwise employed; that assessments should be increased for buildings presenting an unusual fire hazard—for instance wooden houses with space heaters.

This system, Mr. Pocock supposes, would provide incentive for improvement. So no doubt it would. And looking at it cold-bloodedly, it would enable municipalities to tax out of existence their rundown and blighted areas which, while contributing less and less in civic revenue as their property values fall, weigh heavily on the expense side of the ledger in terms of education, welfare, fire and police protection and maintenance of aging services.

But there is another side to the question which cannot be overlooked. The system first of all would require an enormous amount of careful annual surveillance and file-keeping if it were to be fairly applied. Even accepting that as worthwhile, it would invite discrimination among individual properties and discrepancy among municipalities, since to set hard and fast standards by which to judge the degree of deterioration or neglect and the appropriate increase in assessed value would be most difficult.

Still more could it be objected to because in most cases, one would think, it would favor the well-off and oppress the hard-up homeowner. The man who couldn't afford to renew the rotting eavestroughs this year because of more urgent family needs would have to pay a penalty in taxes, putting him just that much more behind the eight-ball. His extra contribution to the civic purse would lighten the load of his fellow citizen with the fancy swimming pool.

So, though Mr. Pocock's ideas are interesting and in several respects markedly progressive, the present system would seem preferable despite its faults.

Ferry Fares

THE B.C. GOVERNMENT'S fleet of ferries is thriving, according to Premier Bennett—operating in the black, and with an increase of nearly one-third in gross revenue in April compared with the same month a year ago.

What must immediately spring to most minds is the possibility of a reduction in fares, which would be beneficial not only to ferry-users but to Vancouver Island's tourist business.

It is to be noted though that the premier says each new ship built for the expanding line makes it more difficult to break even. He has vowed not to raise fares; he presumably wants to take no chance on lowering them prematurely and then sailing into a gulf of red ink.

The argument has been put forward, and reasonably, that the ferries are travelling bridges, part of the highway system, and thus not to be operated as a profitable enterprise. This of course could be carried to absurdity. If the government were to follow the removal of tolls from mainland bridges with similar action in regard to the ferries, Mr. Bennett could never find enough ships to carry the crowds.

Nor will the premier want to undercut the American competition on international routes so seriously as to threaten to deprive Vancouver Island of these alternative and much-needed services.

But since Islanders can be said to be subsidizing bridges elsewhere in British Columbia which on the whole they rarely use, a case can be made for some provincial subsidization of the ferry system.

Perhaps Premier Bennett will see the virtue of that case shortly before the next election. The people of Vancouver Island, however, especially those with large families to transport and summer holidays approaching, will wish it could be sooner.

"Ouch!"

De Gaulle's First Five Years

By WILLIAM MILLINSHIP from Paris

FIVE years after stumbling to the edge of civil war, France has a government with a longer life expectancy than any other in Europe. In mid-May of 1958, the French Parliament in its last "great day" of excitement and tension desperately elected M. Pflimlin prime minister to end a month-long crisis, while the rising of European settlers and the army in Algiers announced the end of the Fourth Republic itself and the return of General de Gaulle.

A National Assembly utterly different in make-up and powers recently reconvened to debate the bread-and-butter problems of new taxes, higher prices and the state of the economy in general. France has turned her back on her rip-roaring political past, and has chosen a normal life. Or so it would seem.

The impression of normality comes largely from the change in the nature of France's problems. She is still in her first year of peace since 1939, and cloaks and daggers have become a less obvious part of everyday life. But there is nothing normal about the way France is governed. The present political "stability" and the existence of the Gaullist regime are tied to the life of one exceptional man. There is no guarantee that they will survive him.

But it would be wrong to suppose that Gaullism will disappear without a trace. The general will leave a considerable legacy: a different set of problems and a new political concept.

Clearly, his greatest achievement to date has been the settlement of the colonial problems which had plagued France since the liberation. Brought back to power by the May revolt in Algiers, General de Gaulle took four years to humble the kingmakers and restore peace. A less devious approach might have hastened the settlement, but the fact remains that the general did find a solution to what many people considered the problem.

The price was high. The settlement inflicted a deep wound on the French Army. Some of its most brilliant officers are in exile, in prison or continue to plot in a vacuum. The others have lapsed into a bitter silence to contemplate the gift of nuclear weapons, the war criminals among them tactically pardoned and, in many cases, promoted.

French justice, manipulated as a weapon first against the Algerian Nationalists, then against the European terrorists of the OAS, has emerged in a sickly state. The police still under the strain of political warfare, have retained a taste for violence.

But the long struggle for peace in Algeria had advantages for General de Gaulle. It left him a free hand to free the rest of the French Empire. And, while he appeared the only man standing between France and civil war, he enjoyed a near political truce at home. Party opposition was negligible, and the trade unions practised restraint.

During the Algerian phase of his reign, the general was able to carry through an orthodox, but effective, financial reform, end the tradition of protectionism and expose French industry to the competition of the Common Market. France now has a gold and foreign currency reserve of over $4,000,000,000, and, despite the threat of inflation and a fall in long-term investment, looks economically healthy. Expansion was at least as rapid under the Fourth Republic, but there has been a striking change from the days when the French premier of the moment went the round of creditors cap in hand.

France is not only financially independent, she has the power to inflict serious damage on the once all-powerful dollar. A strong franc is essential to the general's policy of grandeur, and he sees inflation above all as a threat to his ambition of restoring France to her rightful place in the world.

This means, first, independence from the United States. His attitude to NATO, his insistence on a national deterrent and the veto on British membership of the Common Market, are all part of the same plan. Despite his interest in world problems, it is a curious fact that the general has exercised his diplomacy almost exclusively in the West. His main contribution to East-West relations has been to forecast an eventual change in Soviet attitudes and, in the meantime, to hold to the status quo by staving off a direct deal between Washington and Moscow.

Apart from the Franco-German treaty, his diplomatic successes have been largely negative. He has nevertheless done much to justify the claim that France now holds a key position on the world stage. This undoubtedly flatters the national pride of French electors, even if the details of foreign policy have little influence on the way they vote. Polls taken just after the general's January press conference showed at the same time that his popularity had risen, while most Frenchmen believed Britain should join the Common Market.

The growing importance of public opinion polls points to another major innovation: the replacement of representative government by a system that comes close to monarchy. Parliament still exists and can overthrow the prime minister. But its influence on decisions is small because the general owes nothing to a party machine. The Gaullist UNR party did not put him into power; he put it into the National Assembly.

The general does not need to listen to the parliamentary majority, and proved this during the coalmining strike. Heedless of UNR warnings, he allowed the government to commit a series of blunders, and paid the price of a fall in his personal popularity. The strike was settled between a group of experts, and not government and unions with parliament, acting as mediator.

This episode demonstrated the working and the weakness of "direct democracy," approved by the French in the referendum and elections last year. The general is not a dictator. He can be swayed, but pressure is applied outside parliament where it may do more damage. And there is no way of obtaining satisfaction for general social demands: decent housing, more schools, and a modern system of distribution.

The press is free to attack on all these points (newspaper seizures are now comparatively rare, and there are even signs of impartiality on the French television), but parliament is in no position to follow press campaigns.

General de Gaulle's great victory over the opposition parties last November paralyzed organized democratic action. They will take a long time to recover, and every tentative move to revive political life on new lines is greeted with Gaullist warnings that discredited politicians are plotting a return to the "scandalous comedy" of the Fourth Republic.

General de Gaulle has not yet completed his political will. There are constant rumors of further constitutional changes to come: no doubt a reform of the senate, perhaps a vice-president. But the chances are that the general will leave a political machine that cannot work without him.

Quite a Game

By GREGORY CLARK

AN important aspect of the popularity of golf, according to an enthusiastic golfer I encountered seated beside me on the plane the other day, is the wide variety of businessmen to be found in a golf club.

"There's a representative of practically every line of business you can think of," he said. "I haven't bought anything retail for the past five years. Appliances, clothing, drapes, furniture. This suit I'm wearing I got wholesale. See these shoes?"

He wriggled about to hold up a foot.

"Thirty dollars in any store you could find. I got 'em for $22.50."

On enquiring the line of business my seatmate was in, he turned out to be in real estate. Naturally, I was interested in what he could do in return for his fellow members.

"Well, of course, in the professions," he explained, "there isn't much you can offer except advice. After all, my friends don't lose anything when they give me wholesale. Oh, yes, I advise them on real estate. And I make quite a few sales among them, too."

Golf can be quite a game.

Hon. George McIlraith

By GORDON DEWAR

NO stranger to Ottawa is new Transport Minister George McIlraith, veteran of 23 years in Parliament, all of them representing Ottawa West.

For a solid majority of his 54 years, he has followed two avocations—law and politics—rarely letting either interfere with the other.

When he was named to his cabinet post, however, he severed all connections with the legal firm of McIlraith and McIlraith and has spent his time since acquainting himself with the job of the far-flung transport department. He will see more of its branches in future.

Mr. McIlraith began mixing politics while attending university and during his early days in law practice in the 1930s, when he served top posts in the 20th Century Liberal Clubs, "finest political organizations of their kind I have ever seen."

He was in the process of withdrawing from the Ottawa Liberal Association (of which he was president) when he was drafted as its candidate in the 1940 election. He won it and all since.

The early years in Parliament were relatively quiet, but Mr. McIlraith is now wondering if he will ever work as hard as he did after the war when he was parliamentary assistant to the late Hon. C. D. Howe in the reconstruction and, later, reconstruction and supply departments.

In that position he helped draft legislation establishing the Canadian Maritime Commission and aided the Aeronautics Act in passage through the Commons. Branches of his department operate under that legislation.

During those years his law practice suffered, but at all other times he has maintained a full practice in corporation and estates fields.

Now, however, he says he will have his hands full with his department — "there is much work to do to clarify many policies in all branches of transport."

Without being specific, he indicated some emphasis will be laid on air agreements and, in all fields, changes will be made.

"I think it's known I'm not averse to making decisions," he declares—but he only smiles lightly and secretively when asked what they might be.

Peace Corps

Missions Multiply

By GODFREY HODGSON from Washington

AMERICA'S Peace Corps—the young men and women who responded to President Kennedy's call to offer three-year stints of their friendly skills to countries in need—are to be joined in development work in Africa, Asia and Latin America by close to 3,000 volunteers from Germany, Holland, Argentina, Norway and New Zealand. At least a dozen other industrialized countries are considering forming Peace Corps of their own.

Delegates from 18 countries came to a "workshop for peace corps development" under the auspices of the International Peace Corps Secretariat in Washington. The secretariat is an American outfit, headed by one of the brightest of Mr. Kennedy's bright young men, Richard Goodwin, who has worked in the White House and the state department.

The secretariat shares an office block with the U.S. Peace Corps, but it was set up separately at an international conference in Puerto Rico last autumn to exchange information and ideas on how more volunteers could be brought into developing the underdeveloped countries.

In fact, to judge from the attitudes of some of the delegates at this conference, some of the countries which are now following the American example are not anxious to stress the American connection. Only one of the 18 attending countries, Norway, uses the "Peace Corps" label.

The Germans, who are planning the biggest single effort so far, with a budget of D-marks 5,600,000 to start with, and 2,000 volunteers in the field by the beginning of 1965, call it "Learning and Helping Overseas." The Italians, who are not so far along the road, are thinking in terms of "Volunteers for Peace." And so on.

Israel is a special case. The Israelis can claim to have been doing something very much like what the Peace Corps does for five years. The Israeli delegate to the conference stressed the unique situation of Israel as a country which shares the problems of economic development and social integration with the underdeveloped countries, while sharing the science and technology of the West. And he pointed out that the experience and the spirit of the kibbutzniks, with their emphasis on communal techniques and pioneering attitudes have proved ideally suited for the situation of most underdeveloped countries.

But, indeed, every country's response to the ideal represented by the Peace Corps seems to be special and different, at least in some respects. In Canada, for example, the universities are making the running through Canadian University Service Overseas, with 70 volunteers already teaching in Africa or Asian secondary schools: the government has no plans to take part at the moment.

In Holland, whose program is perhaps furthest along of any ("several hundred volunteers in the field by next year"), the initiative came officially from the minister of foreign affairs himself. The Dutch have sifted over 2,000 applications, and have already settled down to the work of recruiting and training for two programs, one probably in West Africa and another in Brazil.

Each country has its own ideas about where it wants to help, and how, and what it has to offer. Both Holland and Belgium, as ex-colonial powers, are said to be a little chary of sending volunteers to certain areas; but both plan substantial programs nevertheless. Argentina is apparently including in her ambitious plan, for sending 200 to 300 teachers abroad, her offer of Spanish teachers for the United States. The American Peace Corps' principle whereby volunteers live at the same standard as their native fellow workers would presumably make a period of service for Argentine teachers less of a hardship than some other assignments. Japan and the Philippines are the two Asian countries that feel ready to help their neighbors.

The Americans had rather hoped that there might be a movement towards an international, and eventually a "multilateral" Peace Corps movement. There are already plans for bringing the middle-class or relatively privileged young people from recipient countries to work with the Peace Corps. But there is a very strong feeling in each country that they want their own show.

"We are not in the business of evangelizing," says Goodwin. He hopes to establish a pooling arrangement, whereby the Americans will act as brokers, spreading information about which country has what sort of volunteers with what sort of qualifications and skills to offer, and which country, on the other hand, has what needs. For the rest, they hope that the delegates will have learned from each other (and even, perhaps, from their American hosts), and that the net result will be more volunteers in the field.

Today In History

By the Canadian Press

A party of United Empire loyalists from New York landed at the mouth of the St. John River 180 years ago—in 1783—to found Parrtown, now Saint John, N.B. Two years later Saint John became the first town in Canada to be incorporated. Some 12,000 persons from New York flocked to New Brunswick at the close of the American War of Independence.

1804 — Napoleon was proclaimed emperor of France.

1940 — German troops captured the Belgian city of Antwerp.

Magnetic Memory

Clues in Rocks

By BRYANT EVANS

THE ROCKS of the earth have a kind of memory and from that memory scientists are starting to reconstruct some of the earth's ancient history. They are also learning about some of the forces which have formed the earth's crust into patterns that we know and which will form it into new patterns—which will emerge after we and our kind have vanished.

The memory of the rock is magnetic. When rock material is molten there are grains of magnetic material which are aligned with magnetic lines of force of the earth. When the rocks freeze into solid masses, the magnetic grains are locked into place.

Then, later — ages later — when some force moves the rock masses, the grains are disoriented with the earth's magnetic pattern. They carry the imprint of magnetic lines of force that run the wrong way.

These are called magnetic anomalies. They are records of the way rocks used to be when they were new.

Prof. Victor Vacquier of the University of California at San Diego is one of the world's scientific leaders in untangling the clues found in the magnetic rocks and reading the story behind them.

His research reveals large and small land movements. At one point off San Diego he found magnetic patterns that indicated a movement along a fault line of 840 miles.

Recently, working with Gerald D. Van Voorhis of the Navy Oceanographic Office, Vacquier has found there are three small seamounts (underwater mountains) 100 miles southeast of Honolulu that are, according to their magnetic memories, in the wrong hemisphere.

Using an electronic computer, he found that they must have migrated northward a distance of 30 degrees.

He said the computation used one of the theories of geophysicists that has been talked about for a number of years.

This is the idea that there are great convection currents in the earth that rise to the surface like bubbles in mush. Vacquier reasoned that, if this is so, then at the sides of the bubble there should be some horizontal motion. Horizontal motion is the sort of thing that can be observed with magnetic anomalies.

In the case of the seamounts, it was possible to correlate the magnetic anomalies with an actual big-scale rise in the ocean floor that could have generated the horizontal movement of the seamounts. In other words, the seamounts turned out to be a good clue as to how the earth's crust is moved.

Some such movement, scientists believe, caused Baja California to split off from the Mexican mainland and form the Gulf of California.

'Urban Renewal' Fourth to Rise

"This is the kind of urban renewal we like — it doesn't cost the city a penny," Mayor Wilson joked yesterday at the official opening of Regent Towers, Victoria's fourth high-rise apartment in James Bay.

The 120-suite, $1,250,000 apartment block at 415 Michigan Street rises 140 feet above the James Bay area. It is the first half of a development plan which will see a similar high-rise apartment constructed adjacent to Regent Towers.

Mayor Wilson, members of city council and others were guests of the developing company, Chartered Investments of Edmonton, at a reception on the 11th floor after the opening.

Rents in the new building start at $79 a month for a bachelor suite. The matching building which the company hopes to complete within 18 months will be the same height as Regent Towers but will have fewer, larger, more luxurious and more expensive suites.

Centenary Theme

Museums Parley Slated for City

Canada's 100th birthday will be the theme of the Canadian Museums Association's 16th annual conference to be held in Victoria May 22, 23 and 24.

More than 75 members and their wives are expected from all over Canada.

Delegates will be welcomed by Hon. E. C. Westwood in the dining room of the Legislative Buildings Wednesday at 10 a.m.

Annual banquet will be held that evening at the Colonial Inn, 270 Government, with Dr. A. E. Parr, senior scientist of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, will be guest speaker.

The B.C. government will give a banquet at the Empress Hotel Thursday evening. Deputy provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, will speak.

GALLERY EVENTS

The ladies' auxiliary of the Victoria Art Gallery will entertain all delegates at lunch Thursday. Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will give a reception the same afternoon.

Most delegates will attend meetings in Vancouver on Saturday and proceed to Seattle for the convention of the American Museums Association the following week.

Island Units Of Firm Get Awards

Victoria and Vancouver Island divisions of British Columbia Forest Products Limited were handed 12 safety awards at a presentation dinner in the Empress Hotel last night.

Seven of the awards went to Victoria Plywood division and one to Victoria Sawmill division. The others were awarded to Cowichan Green Veneer Plant, Youbou, and the company's Vancouver Island forestry crew.

PRESENT AWARDS

Awards were presented to BCFP president T. N. Beaupre by: J. E. Eades, chairman, Workmen's Compensation Board; W. M. Allison, director, National Safety Council; J. C. F. Stewart, president, B.C. Safety Council; T. K. Lawson, chairman, Forest Products Safety Conference, and Arthur Francis, director, Accident Prevention Department of the WCB, on behalf of the Canadian Industrial Safety Association.

Ford Idles Thousands

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) — Ford Motor Company laid off thousands of workers at Michigan and Ohio plants, the initial result of a wildcat strike in Chicago the firm says may render idle 40,000 workers in 11 states.

Scottish Cadets Honored

Ten members of the Canadian Scottish cadet corps were presented with shooting awards at the Bay Street Armory last night.

Cadet WO2 G. E. Howarth was awarded the Confederation Life Challenge Cup for the 10 best high scores of the season. This is the first year this cup, first presented in 1926, has been won by a Canadian Scottish cadet.

Edward Shaw, representing the insurance company, made the presentation. The nine other awards were made by Brig. John Adam, former commander of 25 Militia Group.

150-Year-Old Papers Tell Slave Stories

The current racial integration crisis in Birmingham, Ala., has prompted a Victoria housewife to pore over 150-year-old newspapers in which "runaway" slaves were being sought by their "subscribers."

"Just look at this," said Mrs. Frank Hilliard, 2995 Westdowne, pointing at the Dec. 25, 1812, edition of the St. Christopher Gazette and Charribean Courier, Barbados:

"Ran-Away from the subscriber, A Negro Girl named Charlotte, about 13 years of age, has very large eyes, the balls of which are reddish and she is so well known that a farther description is deemed needless," the advertisement read, offering a $4 reward for the recapture of the girl.

WHY DID THEY RUN

"I wonder whether they ran away because of ill treatment or to improve their lot," she said. "With Birmingham so much in the news these days, I got out these old papers."

Another advertisement in the Gazette offers a $10 reward for "a Stout Sambo Man named Sampson . . . He is about five feet 10 inches high, and a little Knock knee'd."

The old newspapers were inherited by Mrs. Hilliard from her mother-in-law's brother, who was captain of a ship that regularly called at Barbados.

Other papers from 1813 and 1817 are the St. Christopher Advertiser and Weekly Intelligencer, carrying similar ads and reward announcements for recapture of slaves on the front page.

Victoria Scouts to Visit Washington Camporee

Forty-six Victoria Scouts, Rovers and Leaders will visit Green Lake Park when the University District of Washington holds its Scout Camporee this weekend.

Twenty-six Scouts from 5th Camosun (Oaklands) "A" Troop and 20 Scouts and Rovers from 5th Cedar Hill (St. Aidan's) Troop leave Saturday at 8:30 a.m. for Seattle. Troop 167, University of Washington District, will be host to the Canadians, returning the hospitality of the two Victoria troops who entertained some 20 Seattle Scouts and parents who visited Camp Barnard at Sooke for a weekend at the beginning of the month.

Next to the scouting experience, horse trading seems to be one of the important features, as the boys trade parts of uniforms, badges, mementos, etc. One young Scout, who must have Scottish blood in his veins, was quite gleeful over the fact he traded a Canadian dollar bill for an American, with a profit of eight cents.

The Scouts will be under the charge of Scouter Sandy Lett and Rover Scout Bert Yates.

Debt Puts CN in Red

By HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

The Canadian National Railways had one of its better years in 1962, but because of its obsolete debt burden it finished up with an over-all deficit of $48,919,654.

It must now be as plain as a pikestaff to anyone who studies the railway operations that CNR cannot hope to get itself out of the red until its books are cleared of the capital debts incurred when the government bought out its old private enterprise components—so long ago that fewer and fewer living Canadians can remember how they happened.

One way and another North America's largest railway did a good job in 1962. It made many economic moves to streamline organization and operation, and its operating loss was a mere $557,926, $11,300,000 less than in 1961.

Add on the revenue from non-railway sources and CNR's surplus before paying its bond interest was $13,978,136.

But longterm debt charges were $62,488,500, thus putting the publicly-owned railway further into the glue by $48,919,654.

Donald Gordon, CNR's president in his annual report to parliament noted that if the railways' capital structure had been altered according to the recommendations of the MacPherson royal commission, the result would have been a net profit of $10,000,000.

So long as the present capital structure is permitted to remain, CNR cannot help getting itself deeper and deeper into debt—next year interest on 1962's $50,000,000 of debt will be added to the railway's burdens.

It must be obvious that the federal government should take a leaf out of the B.C. book, which a few years ago wrote off over $160,000,000 of the obsolete debt of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, and enabled the provincial line to stand on its operational performance without strings attached.

HOLLINGER DOES WELL

Hollinger Consolidated Mines more than doubled its previous year earnings when its net profit in 1962 amounted to $8,134,701 ($1.65 a share). In 1961 the company made a net profit of $3,842,624 (78 cents).

NEW ALCAN PLANT

A new industry was inaugurated this week when the country's first aluminum rolling mill was opened at Port Harcourt.

Costing $5,000,000 to build, its principal shareholder is Aluminum Ltd., and it is operated by Alcan Aluminum of Nigeria Ltd. Nigerian finance houses contributed 50 per cent of the cost, and Aluminum Ltd. provided the technical services as well as the remaining 50 per cent of the cash requirements.

High-Rise Foes Get Sympathetic Hearing

Opponents of a proposed strip of high-rise apartments on the Victoria University perimeter said they got a sympathetic reception Thursday from the University Development Board.

Mrs. Shirley Dowell, Mrs. Katharine Cameron and Mrs. Anne Gray, who have been leading a campaign against indiscriminate rezoning for high-rises, met with the board for 20 minutes Thursday.

VERY PLEASED

They later said they were "very pleased" with the reception they got and "were given the assurance that the matter of rescinding high-rise rezoning at the entrance of the university would be given the board's full consideration."

They presented a short brief dealing with Oak Bay's plans for high-rises along Gordon Head and Cedar Hill Cross Roads.

COMPROMISE

It said, "We know that this high-rise zone is not of your (the board's) choosing—that it was a compromise with the municipality of Oak Bay to which you reluctantly agreed.

"As long as this 400-foot strip exists for high-rise zoning, it is going to be used as a lever for any zoning Saanich wishes to push through surrounding the university . . .

"Public opinion demands that the high-rise blight be removed from the entrance to Victoria University. The entrance to this model campus must not be hidden behind the development of private enterprise.

"To this you, the development board, are an accessory before the fact."

WON'T BE NEEDED

Mrs. Cameron reported that one of the board members said, "amid general agreement," that high-rise accommodation bordering the university will not be needed for faculty or students.

Former City Resident Ralph Crichton Dies

A former Victorian, Ralph Crichton, has died in Burnaby at 86.

Mr. Crichton was a former Calgary alderman and later formed the land department of which he was superintendent for 23 years.

He resided at 1030 St. Charles in Victoria from 1948 to 1958.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. D. R. Crichton, and a daughter, Mrs. D. E. Redden of Victoria.

Angry Father Jailed

A saddened man stood in prisoner's box Friday and told city magistrate's court: "When I saw them taking my kids away it upset me no end."

Robert Davis, 841 Hereward, appeared undefended on a charge of obstructing a police officer.

Police attended with a warrant to remove the six Davis children.

RESTRAINED HIM

Const. Bonar Hannay, who gave the warrant to Davis, said: "He told me it was not worth the paper it was written on and threw it in my face. I restrained him and he swung at me. We arrested him."

He added Davis had been drinking but could not be considered drunk.

"You seem to be in the habit of assaulting people," Magistrate William Ostler said after hearing a list of previous assault charges, read by acting crown prosecutor Jack Gatehouse, which included another assault on a policeman.

BOOZE BLAMED

"I guess it's the booze that bothers me," Davis said.

Examining the record Magistrate Ostler noted Davis had been leniently treated.

"Perhaps that's the trouble," he said, and sentenced him to four months in prison.

Climax to a raid, in which RCMP and customs investigation service officers recovered $2,891 in duties, taxes and administrative penalties from the Victoria Exhibition midway, took place in city court.

James Rose, who runs a concession, appeared charged with being in possession of goods unlawfully imported into Canada. He entered a plea of guilty and was fined the minimum amount of $200.

Rose was using the smuggled merchandise as prizes.

Goods worth a total of $1,151 included 865 toy dogs, 284 inflatable toys, 2,060 cigarettes, 64 rayon blankets, seven horse statues, 24 religious plaques, 86 bird cages and 15 gross of aluminum pendants which would have set the concessionaire back $204 in duty.

The articels were believed brought into the country in a circus equipment trailer.

David Gene Wood, 7885 East Saanich Road, charged on two counts of theft over $50 and one count of theft under $50, was sentenced to 10 months definite and not more than four months indefinite at the young offender's unit when he appeared in city court.

The charges were laid in connection with theft of phones from telephone booths and rifling of a phone coin box.

In Oak Bay court, David A. Avery, 1032 McGregor, pleaded guilty to a charge of drinking in a public place and was fined $50.

Houston's Heroes in No-Hit Victory

Heading for shower but still in clouds, Houston pitcher Don Nottebart, left, gets brisk head rubdown from teammate Howie Goss after tossing no-hitter in Colts 4-1 victory over Philadelphia Phils. Goss hit three-run homer after Phils had scored unearned run.—(AP Photofax).

Colts' Don Nottebart Pitches No-Hit Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Houston's Don Nottebart, a cast-off with only 13 previous victories in the majors, pitched the second no-hitter of the season Friday night, but allowed a run as the Colts whipped the Philadelphia Phillies 4-1.

Nottebart, a 27-year-old right-hander purchased from Milwaukee last November, pitched his masterpiece only six nights after Los Angeles Dodgers left-hander Sandy Koufax no-hit San Francisco. It gave Nottebart a 5-1 record after he had posted a 9-9 mark in three previous years.

The Phillies took some luster from the performance when they managed to push across a run in the fifth inning. Don Demeter reached second base when shortstop J. C. Hartman booted his grounder, moved to third on a sacrifice by Clay Dalrymple and scored on Don Hoak's sacrifice fly.

The run tied the score, but the Colts finally gave Nottebart the runs he needed in the sixth on Howie Goss' three-run homer.

St. Louis walloped Cincinnati 11-2. The Milwaukee - Chicago game was rained out.

In the American League, Kansas City shut out Boston 2-0 on Ted Bowsfield's three-hitter and dropped the Red Sox into second-place behind rained-out Chicago.

Minnesota clobbered Cleveland 11-4 as Bob Allison hit three consecutive homers, and Joe Pepitone hit a pair of two-run homers that gave the New York Yankees a 4-3 victory over Los Angeles' Angels. The other clubs were rained out.

Four home runs and Ernie Broglio's four-hit pitching got the job done for the Cards. The homers were hit by Stan Musial, George Altman, Dick Groat and Julian Javier.

British Columbia's Bowsfield, who pitched a two-hitter for the A's last Saturday when he held Minnesota hitless for 8 1-3 innings, beat his former Red Sox teammates on George Alusik's two-run double in the third inning.

Allison connected in the fifth, seventh and eighth innings, driving in six runs and making it easy for the Twins. Zoilo Versalles and Harmon Killebrew also homered against the Indians.

Pepitone's homers produced four runs, one more than two homers by the Angels' Leon Wagner, and that was the entire story of the Yankees' victory.

Siesta Pills Affect Bulls

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The police crime laboratory reported Thursday that somebody put sleeping pills in the drinking water given the bulls in Sunday's bullfights.

The tests were ordered when spectators noted the bulls, while not actually asleep, were reluctant to charge.

Hemming Humming

It's a long way from Fort Lauderdale to Yankee Stadium but George Hemming is on the right path.

The tall lefthander, a product of Victoria's minor league complex, is in his second season as a New York Yankee farmhand—and doing nicely.

Now 19 and learning, Hemming made his first start for Fort Lauderdale in the Class "A" Florida League a successful one.

Hemming went all the way in hurling his club to a 7-6 victory.

Oscar O Breaks Jockey's Slump

Lanky Aussie Leads Oklahoma Golf Test

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Slender Bruce Devlin fired a seven-under par 65 Friday to take a two-stroke lead in the $35,000 Oklahoma City open golf tournament with a 36-hole total of 139.

Bob Duden, Dow Finsterwald and George Bayer were tied for second. Six players were deadlocked at 142, three strokes off the pace set by the thin Australian.

Bob Stone, first-round leader with a 68, ran into putting trouble and soared to a seven-over-par 79 for a 147 total. Defending champion Doug Sanders slumped to a 77 after an opening 69 for 146.

Ken Still, who shot a 69 Thursday over the 7,050-yard, par 36-36—72 Quail Creek Country Club course to tie Sanders, Bayer and host pro Ernie Vossler for second, also soared to a 77. Vossler was 74 and was grouped with six others at 143.

Bo Wininger, who failed to break par for his first 27 holes, cut loose on his final nine and set a course record of 31. Wininger ended the day with a 68 and a 144 total at the halfway point.

It took a score of 149 or better to survive the cut and 66 pros made the grade.

Save by Bell Thing of Past In U.K. Rings

LONDON (AP)—British boxing chiefs changed their rules Friday and made it impossible for a fighter to be saved from a knockout by the bell—except in the final round.

The British Boxing Board of Control ruled that when a boxer is taking a count the round must be extended to allow the referee to finish counting.

If the boxer gets to his feet while the referee is counting, the round will automatically end.

Only the final round will last the appointed time, whether a man is taking a count or not.

Poile Gets $500 Fine, Reprimand

SEATTLE (AP)—Bud Poile, coach and general manager of the San Francisco Seals, has been fined $500 and given a severe reprimand for remarks he made regarding the final Western Hockey League playoff series.

The action was taken by Al Leader, league president, with approval of league officials.

Poile publicly criticized Leader for suggesting the seventh and final game of the series be moved from San Francisco to Seattle. The two were contenders for the Lester Patrick Cup, which the Seals won.

The six previous games were played in San Francisco because the Seattle rink was being used by an ice show. The deciding game also was played on San Francisco ice.

ESKS SIGN FORITE

EDMONTON (CP)—Edmonton Eskimos of the Western Football Conference have signed Eldon (the Phantom) Forite, All-American backfielder from Brigham Young University.

Their Hero Sent to Tacoma

John Who? Club Fights On

By DICK BARNES

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—John Pregenzer left the major leagues Friday.

Unnoticed, like most rookies? No—with pheasant under his belt and the good wishes of his bizarre fan club echoing in his ears.

The tall, bespectacled San Francisco Giant pitcher is going to Tacoma.

"You'll come back, John," says his fan club of more than 800. But just in case he does not, he's still become probably the least expensive and most obscure pitcher to ever have a booster club.

Novella O'Hara, a San Francisco secretary who created the John Pregenzer Fan Club, otherwise known as the John Who? Fan Club, presided at Thursday night's going-away banquet after baseball commissioner Ford Frick forced John's departure.

John had to leave because Frick said the Giants couldn't option injured Chuck Hiller to Tacoma. Hiller had to come back and somebody had to go.

John and his wife, Rhoda, read a telegram of condolence from San Francisco Mayor George Christopher before eating their pheasant under glass at the Blue Fox restaurant.

The 27-year-old right-hander reviewed the roster of the fan club's navy—the crew of the Italian freighter Italterra, all club members in good standing.

He laughed at how the club began this spring when Miss O'Hara learned the Giants had purchased Pregenzer for $100.

"Imagine getting a whole Giant for a season for $100," she exclaimed, and promptly went about collecting $110. But the Giants wouldn't sell.

From that joke beginning, the club grew to membership including such diverse figures as National Football League commissioner Pete Rozelle and Helen Gurley Brown, author of Sex and The Single Girl.

The fan club will continue, vowed Miss O'Hara, its objective unshaken: "To make the world a better place for John Pregenzer to pitch in."

Rain Turns Away From Wet Pimlico

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rain was scratched late Friday as a probable starter in today's $150,000 added Preakness at Pimlico.

The weather bureau had predicted earlier that rain which fell in Baltimore most of Friday night would pose a new factor in the existing turmoil swirling around the superiority of Chateaugay, Never Bend and Candy Spots.

However, Friday night the weathermen said the skies would clear late this afternoon for the feature event. The track still might be sloppy, for showers were expected this morning.

Snell Romps Easily In Non-Record Time

LOS ANGELES (AP)—World record holder Peter Snell of New Zealand, with a surge of power in the last 200 yards, captured the mile run in a feature race of the Coliseum Relays Friday night in the disappointing time of four minutes, 00.3 seconds.

The race was marred by the absence of the main rival to Snell, Jim Grelle of the Los Angeles Track Club, who withdrew because of an illness diagnosed as a virus attack.

Dyrol Burleson of the Oregon Emerald Empire Club was second in a vain effort to catch the New Zealander.

Burleson's time was 4:00.8. In third place was Tom O'Hara of Loyola of Chicago in 4:02. O'Hara set the pace for all four laps, with Snell trailing fourth for the first half mile.

Jim Beatty of Los Angeles ran a blazing final lap to defeat Murray Halberg of New Zealand in the 5000-metre run.

The 28-year-old Beatty, America's finest distance runner from one mile up to 5,000-metres, swept past the 1960 olympic champion in the final 100 yards to win by a comfortable margin in 13 minutes, 57.4 seconds. Halberg was timed in 13:59.2.

New Hawk Coach Rumored

Pilous Out, Reay In?

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) The Standard says Chicago Black Hawk coach Rudy Pilous will be fired within the next two days. Source of the information was not revealed.

The newspaper says the decision was made last weekend at a meeting of Hawks' general manager Tommy Ivan and co-owners Jim Norris and Arthur Wirtz.

Johnny Gottselig, veteran Chicago publicity agent and former Black Hawk player, was fired a week ago after 35 years with the club.

Pilous, manager-coach of St. Catharines Teepees in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series from 1950 until 1957, took over as coach of the Hawks, Jan. 1, 1958, when they were in last place in the National Hockey League.

He helped them into fifth place in the last half of the schedule and they made the playoffs for the next five years, winning the Stanley Cup in 1961. They finished second to Toronto Maple Leafs in the 1962-63 season.

Pilous refused to confirm the dismissal.

He said: "If it is true, then all I can say is that coaches have been hired to be fired since the first time a dollar bill got stuck to a puck. . . . If I'm on my way out then all I can do is wish the Black Hawks every success in the future."

The Standard says Billy Reay, former Montreal Canadien star and one-time coach of the Leafs and Victoria Cougars, may become the Hawks' 22nd coach in 37 years.

Victoria House Four Sweeps Track Meet

Ron Stubbings, Brian White and Vicki Sargent led House 4 to a sweeping victory in inter-house competition at Victoria High School yesterday. House 4 gathered 201½ points, followed by House 2 with 116¼ points, House 1 with 104 points and House 3 with 90¼ points.

Stubbings recaptured the overall senior boys' trophy that he won last year. White took the junior boys' trophy and Sargent retained the junior girls' cup. Janet Holland of House 2 won the senior girls' trophy and House 1's Ian Coates was the runner-up senior boy.

Stubbings won eight firsts in the meet, five in field and three track events.

Five track records fell yesterday, all of them by the dominant House 4. Vicki Sargent broke two, the House 4 relay teams broke two more and Brian Whitten reduced the junior boys' mile record from 4 minutes, 53.03 seconds to 4 minutes, 49.1 seconds.

Double Worth $2.70

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A pair of odds-on favorites won the first two races at Mohawk Raceway Thursday night to give bettors a daily double payoff of $2.70, which may be the lowest in Canadian horse racing history.

Danny Song A., a 2-to-5 favorite opened the race card with a win, paying $2.80 on a $2 win ticket. Garry Herbert, a 1-to-4 choice in the second, paid $2.50.

Royal Oak Captures District Track Meet

Royal Oak won the district 63 junior secondary track and field meet yesterday, piling up 287¼ points in day-long competition at North Saanich High School.

North Saanich placed second with 234½ points and Mount Newton third with 203⅛.

Hill Quits 'Indy' 500

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—World road racing champion Graham Hill backed out of the Indianapolis 500-mile race on the eve of qualifications Friday night.

The Londoner, who had spun twice in practice runs earlier this month, blamed two days of showery weather for hampering his attempts to prepare for the qualifications. He also said commitments to race in the Monaco Grand Prix would prevent his returning for the second weekend of qualifications.

City Play Captures Ottawa Prize

Mrs. Mimi Edgell of Blink Bonnie Farm, Saanichton, has won the Dorothy White award with a prize of $150 for her original one-act play, Beyond Our Time, entered in the 25th annual Ottawa Little Theatre Workshop Playwriting competition.

In the over-all contest, which is Canada-wide, Mrs. Edgell placed second. Her play, A Quiet Half Hour, achieved honorable mention in an earlier competition.

The adjudicator was Miss Leota Diesel, associate editor of Theatre Arts and drama critic for the New York publication, The Village.

Of Beyond Our Time, Miss Diesel wrote:

"This play should be effective staged, a current problem handled dramatically. It is a situation that has occurred in the past—and will be with us for a long time. But it is treated afresh here. Characters are most believable, are presented realistically but not sentimentally."

"The ending rings true. Good work!"

Mrs. Edgell's play deals with intermarriage between a Canadian and an Indian. The competition winner, by George Blackburn of Ottawa, entitled A Walk Through the Valley, deals with the horrors of the bomb.

Art Show Wins Backing

In Saanich

Membership in the Saanich Peninsula Arts Centre which now is well past the 100-mark and still gaining, is solidly behind the exhibition to be held at Sanscha Hall, Sidney, on May 25 and 26.

David Anderson, founder of the centre, himself a distinguished artist, will open the show at 3 p.m. Saturday.

TEA FEATURE

Tea is a feature of the affair on both Saturday and Sunday.

The display will include more than 100 paintings by members, from various Sketch Clubs of Vancouver Island, and from the 12 schools of the Saanich area.

TWO JUDGES

Arthur O. J. Pitts will judge the sketch clubs entries and in the historical landmarks contest, open to members only, Maxwell Bates, ARCA, will choose the winners.

Prominent artists have been invited to exhibit and among the attractions will be a unique example of paintings by Japanese school children, shown here for the first time in Canada.

SCULPTURE, CARVING

There will be demonstrations of sculpture, wood-carving, weaving, pottery, rock-cutting, wood inlay, leather work, rug-making and silk screen.

Mrs. William Newton of Swartz Bay is in charge of arrangements for this 10th anniversary show of the centre which is expected to be the largest collection of original paintings and handicrafts ever assembled by an Island art group.

The exhibition is from 2 to 9 p.m. Saturday, and 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Sidney Boy Third In Contest

COURTENAY — A Sidney boy from Royal Oak Junior Secondary School was among finalists in the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias speaking contest here.

Rhys Phillips lost to Linda Joy of Creston and runner-up Ron Simple of Oliver. Other finalists were Eleanor Mitchell and Hanna Vanderkamp, both of Salmo. Miss Joy will represent B.C. in the Pacific coast finals in Spokane.

Roundup Time In Saanich

Saanich police cleared up a traffic hazard Thursday when they called Floyd Adams of Glanford Road and asked him to collect a bunch of his horses, which were wandering along Quadra Street near Beckwith Avenue.

Minstrels Impress Big Audience

By BERT BINNY

Gaily colorful and sparked by the old, familiar songs and routines, the Nanaimo Lions' Club 10th annual minstrel show provided lots of entertainment to a large audience in Central Junior High School Thursday.

Highlights were Ray James vocal solos and Syd Moore's banjo.

Six endmen, Haig Burns, Neil Black, Sid Clark, Len Hannah, Howard Marshall and Harold Saunders, drew laugh after laugh and the office of Interlocutor was well handled by Lloyd Bertram.

Conductor Merlin Bunt and the orchestra did excellent service and a small army of performers' wives took good care of costuming—one of the most impressive features.

DINGLE HOUSE

For your eating pleasure, the elegant new Dingle House is located in the property of the Redwood Park Motel, 141 Cloyne Road E.

OPEN: Wednesday through Sunday, 5 p.m. to 8 p.m., for Tea; 5 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. for Dinner.

Cooper Will Be Busy

Earthbound Again

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI)—Astronaut Gordon Cooper will fly back to Cape Canaveral Sunday to tell the world of his exploits at a news conference, officials said Friday.

Cooper will spend about six hours today in Hawaii where he will meet his wife and two daughters.

BROADWAY PARADE

Cooper and his family will be guests of honors in a traditional Broadway ticker-tape parade in New York Wednesday.

His doctors said preliminary examinations indicated that, except for losing seven pounds and feeling a little giddy, he was in as good shape as when he climbed into his capsule Faith 7 Wednesday morning for the blastoff.

LESSONS LEARNED

Brainerd Holmes, director of National Aeronautics and Space Administration manned flight, said there is less than a 50-50 chance there would be another Mercury test. Cooper was the last prepared astronaut to fly and most of Mercury's lessons have been learned.

Holmes indicated the U.S. is ready to go ahead with the next step in space exploration—the two-man Gemini program.

THIS DECADE

The first twin-astronaut shot is at least 18 months away. Beyond it, and predicted within this decade, is a manned landing on the moon.

In Ottawa Prime Minister Pearson wired his personal congratulations to Cooper, saying: "You have helped record a further significant step in man's peaceful probing of the universe."

Jo Ann Pfifer, 18, demonstrates her skirt length at home in St. Louis after being returned from Washington and her high school travel group on grounds her skirts are too short—just above the knees. Her father, John Pfifer, said she has pretty knees and ought to show them.

More Bomb Threats In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said Friday there have been threats of more racial bombings here and Negroes will guard homes of Negro leaders. King said a Negro minister received a telephone warning he was next on the bombers' list.

Southern City Begins Full Desegregation

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI)—Knoxville has begun a program that may make it the most thoroughly integrated city in the south.

If all goes as palnned, there soon will be no form of racial segregation in this city of 180,000 persons—at least, no official segregation.

NOT SURPRISED

The city's Negro leaders were enthusiastic but not surprised.

"Here in Knoxville we have been in a position to sit down and talk about our problems," said Dr. James Colston, president of predominantly Negro Knoxville College. "We can go in and talk with the mayor, the chamber of commerce and the merchants.

ALL-AMERICAN CITY

"It looks like we're going to have an all-American city," said Rev. James F. Reese, pastor of a Presbyterian church on the Knoxville College campus.

Mayor John Duncan called a meeting of leading white ministers, civic officials and businessmen to work out "prompt and orderly desegregation of all public facilities."

4-H Club Members

Young Farmers Out in Force To Show Stock at Exhibition

Young farmers of the district—members of the 4-H clubs—turned out in force Thursday at Victoria Exhibition to show their goats, calves and steers.

The day was declared 4-H Day at the fair and the youngsters turned out in force with educational displays in the Curling Rink and displays of their animals in the sawdust-covered ring.

Judging this year was on the Danish method with both animals and their showmen classed into first, second and third categories rather than selecting the top three winners. Results for showmanship:

4-H Goat Club, South Saanich: First, Bruce Gordon; second, Ronald Cullan and Rhoda Crook; third, Joan Money and Lindsay Bowen. North Saanich: First, Philip Rowe; second, Kathy Logan and David Rowe; third, Margaret Lord and Elizabeth Rowe.

Sooke, Saanich and Sidney 4-H Beef Club—intermediate class: First, Pattie Johnson, Reg Raper and Jimmy McHattie; second Jeanne McHattie, David Bickford, Philip Holloway, Fred Polson and Rod Spooner. Senior class: First, Don Alberg, Dennis Mahon and Raymond Jones; second, John Cook.

Dairy clubs (all are Saanich unless otherwise specified and the breed following the name indicates which club)—junior class: First, Cathy Godfrey (Jersey), Doug Saville (Ayrshire), Gordon Michell (Holstein) and Linda Beaty (Jersey); second, Richard Michell (Holstein), Eileen Hoskin (Ayrshire), David Finlay (Holstein), Gordon Rendle (Jersey), Sylvia Wright (Jersey), Gerry Calendar (Jersey), Lynn Reimer (Ayrshire), Mark Hill (Luxton Purebred) and Linda Adams (Ayrshire).

Intermediate class: First, Bob Stanlake, Bob Godfrey, Robert Doney, Judy Chilcott (all Jersey), Tom Saville, Doug Reimer (Ayrshire) and Alan Looy (Holstein); second, Dave Evans, Greg Baker, Susan Street (all jersey), Stephen Hagly, Ken McCarthy and Roberta Specht (all Holstein); third, Nancy Page (Holstein), Donna Chidlow, Alec Chidlow, Rae Chidlow (Luxton Holstein), John Gardner (Ayrshire) and Mike Stanlake (Jersey).

Seniors: First, Colin Armour, Albert Finlay (Holstein), Bonnie Reimer, Ray Reimer (Ayrshire), Bob Evans, Packy Hoole, Rae Hoole, Wendy Baker, John Stanlake (Jersey), Charlie Price and Bill Price (Luxton Holstein); second, Jackie Dawson (Jersey), Sandra Chidlow and Peggy Chidlow (Luxton Holstein); third, Robin Wheeler, Bill Wheeler (Luxton Holstein), Frances [illegible], Sharon McCarthy (Holstein), Patsy Sanders (Holstein) and Mary Jane Williams (Jersey).

Cattle as they were judged standing in the ring—Sooke, Saanich and Sidney Beef and Jersey Calf Clubs: First, Raymond Jones, Rod Spooner, Reg Raper; second, Pattie Johnson, John Cook; third, Don Alberg, Dennis Mahon, Fred Polson, Jimmie McHattie, Philip Holloway, David Bickford and Jean McHattie.

All other results are listed as first, second and third place only.

Standing in the ring: Saanich Holstein—Allen Looy, Albert Finlay and David Finlay. Luxton Holstein—Charlie Price, Bill Wheeler and Peggy Chidlow; Metchosin Holstein—Pat Saunders. Saanich Ayrshire—Doug Saville, Bonnie Reimer and Raymond Reimer; Saanich Jersey—Bob Stanlake, Bob Doney and Reg Hoole.

Luxton Garden Club—miniature garden juniors—Mickey Pellett, Neil Bridgman and Harvey Mincks; seniors—Albert Pellett, David Pellett and Marion McDowell; judging tests, junior class—Patricia Humphries, Mickey Pellett and Clive Hall tied for second; senior—Albert Pellett, Marion McDowell and Rose Smart tied for second.

Tractor Club—written quiz—Ray Reimer, Bruce Wilson and Dave Hagly; oral test—Dave Hagly, Bruce Wilson and Ray Reimer.

Luxton Poultry Club—junior—Jan Hamilton, Heather Hobbs and Dave Finlay; senior—Dave Hobbs, Janet Gilman and Glen Willing.

Rabbit Club—senior buck or doe class—Tove Rabind, Elizabeth Williams and Terri Humphries; fur class—Beverley Davies, Elizabeth Williams and Marion McDowell; judging contest—Donald McDowell, Terri Humphries and Bob Bruce.

Saanich 4-H Home Arts—senior class, flowers—Kris Andrews, Jane Elliott and Linnet Lannon; short breads—Linnet Lannon, Kris Andrews and Selena Kelly; junior class huck weaving—Heather Lord, Jane Simmonds and Colleen Kelly; iced cake—Kathy Brodhurst, Jane Simmonds and Penny Elliott.

Club winners of educational displays—Luxton Garden Club, Saanich Holstein Club and Saanich Home Arts Club. Demonstrations—Saanich Home Arts Club, Saanich Jersey Club and South Saanich Goat Club.

School Fees Cut

Fees for non-resident students in school district 61 will be reduced again this year, Greater Victoria School Board officials have indicated.

The board's finance committee has recommended that outside students be charged $180 per annum. Fees were cut from $300 to $190 a year, last year.

School board officials also announced that tenders were opened Thursday for an addition of four rooms to Cloverdale Elementary School.

$700,000 Project

Harbor Improvement May Start This Year

An Inner Harbor development project described in an exclusive Colonist news story last December may be the Capital Improvement District Commission's next major venture.

It is considered the most probable of three alternative projects already scheduled for consideration this year.

The others are a start on a Gorge waterway rehabilitation scheme and extension of the Marine Drive concept of view roads through the Greater Victoria municipalities.

Plans for the harbor project were commissioned in 1960.

They were drawn up in their original form by Victoria architect Douglas Shadbolt for the Capital Region Planning Board and paid for by the CIDC.

BELOW CAUSEWAY

A modified form of the plan, and the one under consideration by the CIDC, calls for a broad water-level promenade below the Causeway on the south, east and north sides of the harbor, a water-level stage, floral decorations, expanded small-craft facilities and benches.

Cost of the promenade and some of the other features has been estimated at $700,000.

FIRST PHASE

If the CIDC approves the project it would probably embark on the first phase this year.

The CIDC was granted $200,000 with which to further its capital projects in 1963.

But before the harbor plan go-ahead can be given, the CIDC will have to get federal approval.

FEDERAL AID LIKELY

Federal aid for part of the cost of the work is considered a possibility.

First task in the project will be to shore up the existing Causeway whose foundations have caused some concern in recent years.

Engineers say that any attempt at dredging the harbor could upset certain balancing pressures which hold the massive rock structure in place.

Log Death Accident

A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death Friday in an inquest into the death of Clarence Henry Radford of Sooke, killed Thursday by falling logs.

Radford, a principal in the Marus Logging Co., was sitting in a log loader at the time of the accident.

Sunday Afternoon

Miss Victoria Crowning In Front of 'Buildings'

Thousands of spectators will crowd around the front of the legislative buildings Sunday afternoon to see the high point in the Victoria Day weekend celebrations — the crowning of the new Miss Miss Victoria.

Grand parade to the legislative buildings will begin at 2.15 p.m. Sunday from a point just north of Humboldt and Government. The new Miss Victoria with her retinue is timed to arrive at the legislature steps at 2.30 p.m.

BAND SELECTIONS

To entertain the crowd while it waits for the arrival of Miss Victoria, the Mount View High School band will play selections, beginning at 2 p.m.

Taking part in the parade will be bands from the PPCLI and Canadian Scottish cadets, the Victoria Girls' Drill Corps, Treasure Island Sweethearts, Nanaimo Legion Majorettes, RCAF cadets and district queens and their princesses:

Belmont Queen Darlene Moyes, and her Princesses Cari Kitchen and Joanne Provencal; Sidney Queen Barbara Erickson and Princesses Cathy Douma and Sharon Ridge; Chemainus Queen Louise Seitz and Princesses Lorraine Gallagher and Betty Lynne Dobie; Esquimalt Queen Maureen Scott and Princesses Pat Bate and Jo-Anne Howard; RCN Queen Carol Lynne Dobie; Luxton Fair Queen Judy Drummond and Princesses Sheila Sinnott and Dawn Chapman; Colwood Queen Sonny Harriott and Princesses Heather Rimmer and Linda May Fitzpatrick, and the Sequim, Wash., Irrigation Queen is also expected to attend.

PINCH HITTING

Coun. John Watts, vice-president of Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, will pinch-hit for president Edward McFayden who is in hospital.

The new Miss Victoria will be crowned—and bussed—by Mayor R. B. Wilson.

HORSE SHOW

Highlights of the weekend's celebrations might fall on Sunday but the celebrations will begin tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. with the start of Victoria Riding Academy's junior horse show.

Today's events include cricket matches, cycling races, swimming competition, a senior baseball doubleheader, a high school band recital and auto races.

Holiday Events

TODAY

9:00 a.m.—Junior horse show, 2301 Cedar Hill Cross Road.

10:00—Victoria Cycling Club races, Beacon Hill Park; Canadian amateur swimming heats, Crystal Garden pool.

1:00 p.m.—Senior baseball doubleheader, Royal Athletic Park.

2:00—Canadian amateur diving meet, Crystal Garden pool; Ingraham High School band from Seattle, Cameron bandshell, Beacon Hill Park.

2:15—Cricket: Oak Bay vs. Incogs, Windsor Park; Nanaimo vs. Alcos at Nanaimo.

6:00—Swimming and diving finals, Crystal Garden pool.

7:30—Car races, Western Speedway.

SUNDAY

1:00 p.m.—Speedboat regatta, Elk Lake.

1:30—Motorcycle scramble events, old Colwood fair grounds.

2:15—Cricket: Five Cs vs. Albions, Beacon Hill Park.

2:30—May Queen crowning ceremony, legislature steps; Independence, Ore., Central High School choir, Cameron bandshell, Beacon Hill park; East Bremerton High School band concert, Kinsmen Gorge Park.

3:00—Mount Vernon Union High School band concert, Hampton Park; Edmonds High School band concert, Willows Park.

3:30—Alma Squares dance display, Nanaimo Legion Majorettes display, Beacon Hill Park.

During the afternoon and evening a number of entertainment units will visit Veterans' Hospital to put on impromptu shows.

Jaycee Guest

Playing cotton candy-bearded Santa Claus to Patsy, six-year-old charmer from Protestant Orphanage is Eric Charman, president of Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce. Jaycees were hosts to group of orphanage children at Victoria Exhibition yesterday, giving them run of grounds, free rides and as much pop, hot dogs and candy as they could hold. Attendance figures rose to nearly 90,000 yesterday. Door prize winner last night was Maurice Simpson, 3411 Browning.—(Ryan Bros.)

Children Blamed For Fire

Fire believed to have been started by children chewed a small hole in an antiquated storage shed at the rear of Heaney's storage area at Kelvin and Burns about 5:30 p.m. yesterday.

Children who first discovered the fire were playing on the shed roof when they noticed the intense heat. A few heavy timbers stored in the shed were burned.

Firemen had the blaze out in minutes.

CPR Retired to Meet

Canadian Pacific Railway retired employees will hold a meeting in the Crystal Garden at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

History Reopens in Victoria

* * *

Pioneer Names in Renovation Ceremony

Close to 150 people—some bearing the names of Victoria's earlies pioneer families — crowded around historic Helmcken House yesterday as Premier Bennett officiated at a reopening ceremony following a $31,000 renovation.

The 110-year-old house on Elliott Street, opposite the provincial government's Douglas Building, will be open all weekend at no charge. Admission rates of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children go into effect Tuesday.

The renovation included replacement of rotted foundation piles with concrete, laying a shake roof, painting and wall-papering.

Helmcken House is considered the oldest original home in the province.

It was built by Dr. John Sebastian Helmcken, who moved into it with his bride in 1853—and apparently regretted it.

* * *

In his writings he said: "Mr. Douglas (Governor James Douglas) gave me an acre of land, wanted me to live on it, there would be mutual aid in case of trouble at any time from Indians. . . . I ought never to have built there and soon found it very inconvenient away from my office in the fort. The piece of land was very rough and cost a good deal of time and money to clear."

Dr. Helmcken was the member for Esquimalt in the first legislature, one of the architects of B.C.'s entry into confederation and B.C.'s first speaker.

Elderly Man In Fair Condition

An elderly man struck by a car while crossing Esquimalt Road at Head Street was in fair condition in St. Joseph's Hospital last night.

Richard Scuisder, 83, of Matson Sunset Lodge, suffered head and pelvis injuries. Police said the car was driven by Raymond Oulette, 35 Battleford Avenue.

Empress Regulars All Right

Hotel Strike Set Wednesday

Empress Hotel employees are preparing to strike at midnight Wednesday.

J. R. Grealy, general chairman of the union representing Empress employees, said last night the nation has exhausted all alternatives to strike action and employees will walk out midnight Wednesday unless there are good indications of management concessions in the meantime.

Leslie Parkinson, hotel manager, could not be reached for comment.

Mr. Grealy said that, if the hotel does not bring in other staff to replace striking hotel employees, the union will make sure long-time regular Empress customers, for whom the Empress is home, will not suffer.

If the union does bring in other staff, the union will pull its members out of the hotel entirely.

UNION WILLING

Should management modify its stand between now and Wednesday, the union is willing to negotiate, Mr. Grealy said—"But they've got to move."

He said: "We're willing to co-operate right up to the last minute. And if it looks as if there is a possibility of a settlement, we will delay the date."

But, he said, there would have to be "good indications" of management willingness to negotiate in earnest.

LAST MINUTE

Management could not delay the strike simply by saying at the last minute they would like to negotiate, he said.

He said management of the Canadian Pacific hotel and representatives of Local 278, Canadian Brotherhood of Railway, Transport and General Workers (CLC), were to have met Friday.

Mr. Grealy said management cancelled Friday's meeting, saying it was sending its second letter this week to conciliation officer W. T. McLaughlin and union officials.

'SLIPPING BACK'

But that letter turned out to be "if anything, slipping back" from proposals management made previously.

He said the hotel will not be able to replace its staff with college students and similar untrained staff. It takes two or three to replace a regular employee, and the hotel can't pay them the extremely low wages here that students get at Banff or Lake Louise, he said.

Ten-Year Project

Steel Cruiser Dream Fulfilled

A 10-year dream came to life yesterday with the launching of the 40-foot all-steel cabin cruiser "Rana" at the government graving dock in Esquimalt.

Builder Vincent Horth, 105 View Royal, says the cruiser will be worth $1,800 a foot when he completes it in about seven month's time.

OWN DESIGN

The ex-RCN shipwright, who retired as a CPO last September, built the craft from his own design. He first made a half-breadth wooden model and had it checked by a friend who is a naval architect.

His design approved, he began fabrication of parts in 1962.

WORKED WHILE AWAY

"I spent three years in Levis, Quebec, and two years in Regina," he said, "and I worked on transoms, deck beams, stem, and keel even while I was away from home.

"This is why I decided to use steel. It's more expensive than wood but I knew it wouldn't dry out and warp while I was building the cruiser."

KEEL LAID IN 1957

The keel of the "Rana" was laid in 1957 and work has progressed steadily ever since.

This is not the first boat-building venture for Mr. Horth. He has been building 14 and 15-foot wooden sailboats for years. Most have been sold but he still has a couple left.

This is the first all-steel boat he has built, however.

The sleek hull will be fitted out in plywood and will sleep two.

EXTRA ROOM

"There is room for another cabin aft but I may want to go commercial fishing or take out fishing parties, so I'm not finishing it just yet," Mr. Horth said.

The craft will be powered by a six-cylinder Lister diesel engine. "Rana" had a pukka launching yesterday, when Mrs. Horth broke a bottle of wine over the hull.

* * *

Designer Happy with Job

Striding along deck of newly-launched 40-foot all-steel cabin cruiser "Rana," owner - designer - builder Vincent Horth, 105 View Royal, looks happy about way boat took to water at government graving dock in Esquimalt yesterday. Cruiser will be worth $40,000 when completed. — (Robin Clarke)

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Shortly after I left home to join my husband, who is in the armed services, I received a telephone call from my dad telling me that he and mother had separated.

My mother has yet to mention it, although she writes to me often and we have spoken on the telephone many times. She is obviously so bitter and unhappy about the separation that she cannot bring herself to speak of it.

My brother who is 17 told me mother made him choose between her and dad. He chose her. She will not permit him to mention dad's name in the house — much less see him.

When I get home I'm sure I will be faced with the same choice. I am dreading this because I love them both. My mother has a will of iron and she's impossible to reason with. Please tell me what to do.—RIGHT SQUARE IN THE MIDDLE

Dear Middle: The unhappy relationship between your parents is not of your making and you shouldn't be punished for it. The parent who imposes such a choice on a child deserves to be the one who is left out. If your mother insists that you choose between her and your father—choose your father.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not the prettiest girl in the world—or the smartest. I'm 28 years old, have a responsible position and have supported myself since I was 18.

Life was uncomplicated (and also unexciting) until I met Warren. Warren is a college graduate and he sells insurance. I haven't gone with anyone else for six months so you might say he is my steady. He has hinted strongly about marriage but has never proposed. Now I'm not sure I'd accept. This is why I'm writing.

Twice in the last three months Warren has lost his temper and slapped my face. Both times he insisted the slaps were "nothing personal"—and that is the way he expresses himself when he gets angry. He said, "any psychologist will tell you it is a healthy outlet for the emotions."

I've never studied psychology so I'm in no position to dispute his word. Can you advise me? —LITTLE EVA

Dear Eva: The "outlet" may be good for his health but I can't see that it does much for yours.

If a klop in the chops is Warren's way of "expressing himself" during courtship, you can guess what kind of expression you'll get after marriage.

Flee this man as you would the plague. Civilized people don't slap faces.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I will celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary next month. Many of our friends and relatives have offered to give parties for us but my husband and I would prefer to entertain THEM rather than have them entertain us.

I am not being avaricious — just practical — when I tell you I know we will receive many lovely gifts. Since this will be the silver anniversary I can see it now — silver platters, silver dishes, silver ash trays, candlestick holders, candy dishes, cigarette boxes. The list is endless. All silver means to me is hours of polishing and I dread the thought of it.

Would it be improper if I wrote on the invitations "No Silver Please." Thank you. — THE BIG 25.

Dear Big: It would be in poor taste to write such a message on the invitation. No reference to a gift should be made on ANY invitation.

You may pass the word quietly among your close friends that you don't want silver, but don't make a mass production type of announcement, please.

Coffee Party

At the recent meeting of Robert Burns McMicking Chapter, IODE, Mrs. Elsie Lowthian was appointed convener, and Miss Laura Tebo co-convener, of the coffee party to be held at the home of Mrs. A. M. Kirk June 22. Mrs. Lowthian reported on the provincial meeting held in New Westminster.

Miss Agnes Stewart, services at home and abroad, reported that five packages had been sent to the nursing station at Fort Norman. An Easter card was sent to the adopted patient at the Veterans' Hospital. Mrs. Norma Powell was guest at the meeting. The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. A. W. Flinton, with regent Mrs. J. T. Fox in the chair.

Ridotto June 15

A dessert party was held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Young, Greenridge Crescent, on Thursday evening when plans were discussed for the Ridotto to be sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to the Family and Children's Service at Sevenoaks on Saturday, June 15.

Among those present were Mrs. Gordon Hunter, Mrs. James McConachie, Mrs. W. F. Hibbert, Mrs. D. A. Buick, Mrs. Ruth Forbes, Mrs. I. V. Saunders, Mrs. Thomas Ireland, Mrs. Norman Blackmore, Mrs. R. R. Wilde, Mrs. Conway Parrott, Mrs. Herbert Brown, Mrs. Mary Webb, Mrs. Norman Holland, Mrs. F. M. Waller, Mrs. G. E. Cooper, Mrs. Ruth Reeve and Mrs. E. McFayden.

Pinwheel Sandwich For Spring Parties

Any number of snacks are delicious with afternoon coffee, but the spring kaffeeklatsch deserves a special tribute. To go with the balmy breezes, here's an eye-catching Party Pinwheel, fashioned of layered sandwich wedges. It's admired for more than its lovely design — the fillings form a luscious combination. To each guest goes a neat little sandwich wedge and, with each wedge, a fragrant cup of coffee.

PARTY SANDWICH PINWHEEL

Fillings: Chicken salad, ham salad, watercress, butter, relish cheese spread, minced cucumber and radishes, mayonnaise.

How to Assemble: Use thin-sliced, fresh white bread and whole wheat bread. Make a sandwich "stack," using all five fillings and six slices of bread, alternating white and whole wheat. (Each stack makes two servings; assemble as many as you need.) Trim off crusts. Cut each stack diagonally in half. "Frost" top and one short side of each triangle with cream cheese, whipped until fluffy. Be sure you frost all triangles identically. Arrange triangles on a platter to form pinwheels, as illustrated. Garnish each wedge with a shrimp, olive, pickled onion or anchovy fillet.

Thalidomide Mothers Suffer Guilt Complex

MONTREAL (CP)—A Montreal psychiatrist has found that mothers of deformed thalidomide babies often suffer from severe "feelings of guilt and self-castigation," and needed psychiatric treatment.

Dr. Denis Lazure, chief psychiatrist at Montreal's Ste. Justine children's hospital, wrote about his findings in the current issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal. Dr. Lazure is a member of the expert committee on habilitation of thalidomide babies appointed by the minister of national health and welfare.

In cases where the child's deformity was of unknown causes, Dr. Lazure found, mothers were more likely to show resignation and serenity, feeling it was "an accident of nature," or "the will of God."

But guilt feelings of the mother who had taken thalidomide often resembled the severe depressive mental illness sometimes following a normal birth.

"Such a mother certainly should be treated by a psychiatrist," he said.

INTELLIGENCE NORMAL

He said that data from Germany and Great Britain showed almost all thalidomide babies as having normal intelligence, and that parents should be told of this fact.

Most parents in Canada wanted to keep the child in the home, but where parents were psychologically unable to cope with the child they should not be made to feel that they are "perverted" parents if they chose to place it in an institution.

Career Women Pay Price

By NANCY PHILLIPS

The trouble with fashion magazines is that, on occasion, they appeal to the intellect.

A case in point is the current issue of Vogue, in which writer Marya Mannes analyzes the dilemma of the professionally creative woman.

To quote the eloquent Miss M: ". . . Such women can love men yet not submerge themselves in men: can love children but not dedicate themselves to them; can enjoy domesticity but not devote themselves to it. In so being, they miss the intense pleasures of submission, the unity of character and the security of role which 'normal' women enjoy.

CONDITIONS

She goes on to explain the losses that accompany these gains, and how society accepts such a woman only on certain conditions.

". . . Nobody objects to a woman being a good writer or sculptor or geneticist if at the same time she manages to be a good wife, a good mother, good-looking, well-dressed, well-groomed and unaggressive. These are the entrance charges for the approval of other men and women. They are, I maintain, exhorbitant to the point of impossibility."

LONG BURDEN

". . . If she has children—this creative woman of ours — she must pay for this indulgence with a long burden of guilt, for her life will be split three ways between her children, her husband and her work . . . No woman with any heart can compose a paragraph when her child is in trouble or her husband ill; forever they take precedence over the companions of her mind. In this, as in many other things, the creative woman has a much tougher time than the creative man.

". . . For one thing, she has no wife, as he has—to protect her from intrusion, to maintain the machinery of living, to care for the children, to answer the doorbell. For another, no one believes her time to be sacred. A man at his desk in a room with a closed door is a man at work. A woman at a desk is any room is available . . ."

To all of which I can add only a heartfelt "amen."

Visit London

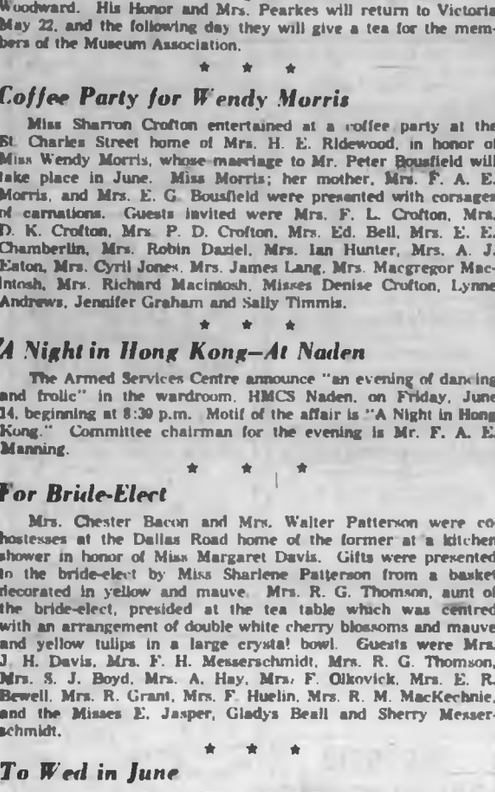
The following Victorians have recently signed the book at British Columbia House, London: Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. H. Fisher, Miss Flora Hamilton-Burns, Mrs. A. Sutton, Miss G. Holling, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dancocks, Miss Vera French, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Brown, Mrs. Harry Lindsay, Mrs. M. I. Millar, Mrs. William Purnell, Mrs. Bessie Mimty and Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bowerman and Mrs. W. G. Richmond of Sidney.



Mr. and Mrs. John McGeachin will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary today with a reception at the home of their daughter, Mrs. M. Christison, 222 West Burnside Road. Originally from Scotland, the couple married in Regina in 1913. Mr. McGeachin, who was born in Bridge of Allan, Stirlingshire, first came to Canada in 1911 then returned to bring out his future wife. Mrs. McGeachin comes from Lochgelly, Fifeshire. The couple came to retire in Victoria in 1951. They have two daughters, Mrs. B. Corscadden and Mrs. Christison, in Victoria, and nine grandchildren. The reception will be from 3 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p.m.

Registered Nurses Meet in Vancouver

Miss Ada George of Kimberley, president, will preside at the three-day session of the annual meeting of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia in the Hotel Vancouver on May 29, 30 and 31. Councillors from ten districts and delegates from forty-two chapters as well as many other interested registered nurses will be at the meeting.

The Hon. Eric Martin, Minister of Health Services and Hospital Insurance, will bring greetings from the provincial government. Dr. S. Wah Leung, Dean of the new Faculty of Dentistry at the University of British Columbia, will be the luncheon speaker on the subject "The Macdonald Report on Higher Education."

Victoria delegates to the convention will be Mrs. E. Lawsley, Miss J. Jamieson, Mrs. J. Bothwell, Miss Olive Wilson, Miss Norma Fieldhouse, Mrs. P. Kahr, Miss G. Hay, Mrs. E. Michael, Miss Mary Irving, Miss Mary Irving, Miss Shirley Anderson, Mrs. C. MacLeod, Miss J. Shillaber, Miss E. Hutchison, Miss R. Cowper and Miss Tillie Parton.

There will be five sections of clothing from cottons and suits to coats, evening wear and silk and wool dresses, as well as skirts and jumpers. Clothes will be modelled by their makers, about 160 girls from Grades 10 to 12. Preview above is given by Sheila Sexauer, Barbara Cummins, Edith Boon and Lona Donaldson.—(Bud Kinsman).

Victoria Girl Married To RCMP Constable

Sally Helen Ney of Penticton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Osborne Ney of Oakdowne Road, Victoria, and Const. Robert Giblak, RCMP, were recently united in marriage in St. Stephen's Anglican Church, West Summerland. Rev. Canon A. R. Eagles of Penticton officiated. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Giblak of Caslan, Alta.

Mrs. Alex Lawson, organist, accompanied Mr. George Ney, Mr. Dale Winder, Mr. Bob Doucette and Mr. Dwight Einarson of Trinity Junior College, Langley, B.C.

The dark-haired bride chose a full length gown of rich satin. A moulded bodice, with wing shaped neckline, topped the bell shaped skirt. Her short pouffy veil was touched with pearls and she carried a bouquet of yellow roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Primrose yellow chiffon over taffeta dresses were chosen by the bride's attendants. Mrs. S. Southwell was matron of honor, Ann Butcher and Elizabeth Lingley, bridesmaids and Betty Southwell, junior bridesmaid.

Their flowers were lily-of-the-valley and white carnations.

Const. Larry Hanson was best man and Const. Ken Davis and Const. Roy Baron ushered guests.

The reception was held at the Jubilee Pavilion where Mr. Bruce Brown proposed the toast to the bride.

Leaving on the honeymoon, the bride changed to a pink Italian knit suit with pink and beige accessories. She carried a bouquet of orchids. The newlyweds will make their home in Penticton.

New Member Welcomed

At recent meeting the Arbutus Club was honored to have a guest, Mrs. Phil Bodman, Speech Contest winner from the White Spruce Toastmistress Club of Prince George.

Table topics were introduced by Mrs. A. V. Drew, who required all present to participate. Mrs. E. Ruth Roberts was welcomed as a new member and was presented with a corsage of red camellias by president, Mrs. J. W. Gillis, during the induction ceremony with Mrs. Sybil McCulloch officiating.

Toastmistress for the evening was Miss Beryl Ince and prepared and impromtu speeches were given by Mrs. W. Howes, Mrs. D. J. Doore, Mrs. G. Love, Mrs. E. Mansley, Mrs. G. M. Irvine, Mrs. S. McCulloch, and Mrs. Roberts. A ten-minute parliamentary lesson on motions was given by Mrs. T. F. Howe. The Spur and Oscar were presented by the general evaluator, Mrs. D. L. Campbell, to Mrs. Love and Mrs. McCulloch, respectively.

VON Adds Staff

Suggestion a new car be purchased, was made at the monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses at Spencerhouse. This is made necessary since the addition of an assistant to the regular staff.

Visits during the month showed an increase of over 600. There had been more calls for patients with emotional and depressive conditions.

Consultant physiotherapist, Mrs. Leach, had assisted with 12 patients during the month.

Attend Ferry Launching

Council Anniversary Tea Realizes $170

Victoria branch of the Local Council of Women marked the 75th anniversary of the founding of the National Council and their own 69th anniversary at a tea and sale in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay Company yesterday.

During the afternoon Mrs. P. B. Scurrah appeared on stage, wearing an exquisite lace dress period gown, representing Lady Aberdeen, founder of the National Council. Miss J. E. M. Bruce traced a brief history of the founding and aims of the Council while Mrs. Scurrah was on stage.

The warm weather brought out a record crowd to the tea. Mrs. H. I. MacKenzie, president, received the guests. Tables were filled from opening until closing. Shoppers were lined up at the home baking, miscellaneous and apron stalls.

Special guests were Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, Alderman Mrs. Lily Wilson, Mrs. George Murdoch, and Mrs. B. Parsons.

Stall conveners were Mrs. L. Johns, Mrs. E. Lowe, Mrs. H. S. Groves, Mrs. Summers Clark, and Mrs. W. Mortimer.

Servers were Mrs. A. E. Raymond, Mrs. A. McLeod, Mrs. R. Alexander, Mrs. F. Smith, Mrs. F. Deckern, Mrs. R. Lawler, Mrs. W. Vandeastoep and Mrs. P. R. A. Coombs.

Looking after kitchen arrangements were Mrs. Ken Leeming, Mrs. E. A. Bosward, Mrs. G. Brown and Mrs. E. Barker.

Mrs. L. Johns arranged the floral decorations and Mrs. Donald Cox was in charge of tickets.

The sum of approximately $170 was made at the successful affair.

Scholarship Coffee Party

The Fine Arts Study Group of the Victoria University Women's Club held a scholarship coffee party recently for the Victoria Summer School of Music. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. R. M. Adamson, 1684 Yale Street, who together with Mrs. P. H. Thomas convened the party and received the guests.

Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. S. C. Evans, Dr. J. F. Brunton, Mrs. J. E. N. Flanagan, Mrs. C. M. Matheson, Mrs. J. L. W. Price, Mrs. W. A. Falk, Miss Maimie Simpson, Mrs. A. H. Gunning, Mrs. F. H. Graham, Mrs. R. Gardom, Mrs. A. D. Young, Mrs. J. L. Andrews and Miss Gipsy Mahaffey.

An outstanding feature of this successful event was a beautiful woodcut donated by Mr. W. J. Phillips and won by Mrs. O. Jull.

Bishop to Bless New Church In Ceremony on Sunday

Most Rev. Remi J. De Roo, Bishop of Victoria, will bless the new St. Joseph's Parish Church, 745 West Burnside, at 4 p.m. Sunday.

Following the blessing ceremonies, Bishop De Roo will offer the first Mass in the new church, and will preach the first sermon.

Master of ceremonies will be Rev. Bernard Hanley, of St. Andrew's Cathedral. He will be assisted by Rev. William Hill, also of St. Andrew's. Ten altar boys from the parish will serve in the sanctuary.

STONE FROM CHAPEL

The altar stone to be placed in the Blessed Sacrament Altar is the stone used since 1927 in St. Margaret's Chapel, which was the only Catholic church in the area for the past 36 years.

The church, which will seat 375, was designed by John Di Castri. A hall in the church basement will also seat 375.

St. Margaret's Mission officially became St. Joseph's Parish in March of last year by decree of the late Bishop James M. Hill. During the past 20 months Sunday Mass has been held in the auditorium of the Tillicum Outdoor Theatre as well as in St. Margaret's Chapel.

VESTING RITE

Following the Mass, the pastor of the parish and chancellor of the diocese, Monsignor M. T. O'Connell, will be vested with the robes of a domestic prelate in a ceremony in the Sanctuary.

A public reception honoring Monsignor O'Connell will be held in the auditorium of St. Patrick's School, Trent Street, Oak Bay, at 8 p.m.

Special Service

A Commonwealth Day service will be held Friday at 11 a.m. in St. John's Anglican Church.

Service will be attended by the Fellows of the Royal Commonwealth Society of Victoria. Canon George Biddle will preach.

Archbishop Heads Council Chapter

Archbishop Harold Sexton has been named honorary president of the reactivated Victoria chapter of the Canadian Council of Churches, it was announced Friday.

Also elected to the council, which will represent the majority of Christian communions in Victoria, were Rev. William Hills, president; Very Rev. Dr. J. L. W. McLean, first vice-president; Rev. Dr. H. K. Johnston, second vice-president; Rev. William Williams, secretary, and Rev. Harry Pike, treasurer.

'Godlessness Taught' By UBC Philosophers

VANCOUVER (CP) — A graduate University of B.C. student says UBC's philosophy department is teaching godlessness under the guise of philosophy. Grant Livingstone said that, if atheism is to be taught, UBC should set up a special department to do it.

He proposed a motion at the annual meeting of UBC's convocation that a department of atheism be set up — but couldn't get a seconder.

Outgoing association president Frank Walden said Livingstone's motion made the convocation virtually unique, because it was the first time a contentious issue had come before the gathering.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

It is a common gibe that the three-fold temptation of the ministry is to shine, whine and recline. The fact remains, however, most of the brilliant contemporaries of mine who went into the ministry with high ideals now are either out of the ministry or broken or both.

The Protestant ministry suffers under impossible demands and inhuman treatment which, though carefully disguised by the bureaucracy and ignored by the laiety, are destructive to men who are not unworthy.

Truly the preacher of today must have the heart of a lion, the skin of a hippopotamus, the agility of a greyhound, the patience of a donkey, the wisdom of an elephant, the industry of an ant, and as many lives as a cat!

This Cancer

As one who loves and admires the Protestant church and sympathizes profoundly with his brethren caught in a ruthless system, and not through hostility or personal pique, I speak this warning—either recognize and treat this cancer or it will destroy church as well as ministry.

I have had much love and kindness from my congregations. I have been more fortunate than most. Yet knowing it as I now do, I doubt very much I would have the courage to enter it if I were commencing my career.

None Pleased

The heart of the problem is that no one has a clear conception of the work of the ministry. A survey shows two fifths of the working day, which averages 10 hours, is spent on administration, one fifth on preaching and priestly activities, another fifth to pastoral work and the remainder divided between teaching and organizing.

But he pleases no one, least of all himself. He goes to bed every night knowing he should have visited 400 families that day! Yet strangely, it is the loneliest life on earth.

Clergymen must get on with their employers and those who pay least criticize most. The criticism is continuous and brutal, while the Protestant clergy looks with longing on the loyalty, respect and affection given his Roman Catholic counterpart.

He may, like the Rev. Andrew Mackerel in Peter de Vries' novel, slickly and cynically accommodate his ministry to community culture, or he may become professional and detached in protective mechanism. Yet this degrades the ministry.

Fine laymen like the American lawyer, Stringfellow, see the peril of the church in becoming a self-entertaining, self-serving ghetto, dedicated to its self-preservation and self-centred pietism. Instead of a house of God, a church becomes a "fine plant" and the minister is bogged down in a swamp of plodding idealism, administration, building programs, money-raising and constant wrangles on direction by those within and without the church.

Meaner Truth

It has no vital effect on our culture and may fall far short of "a Christian church" though it have a large budget, increasing membership, filled pews and a peppy program.

One of the most frustrating facts is that to help a family may well mean to lose them. It is one of the meaner truths about human nature.

Moreover, church members will be resentful if one family has more visits than another or if a minister helps and counsels families outside the church. But then the popular indoor sport of Protestants is criticism of their clergy.

Ministers are only human, though they are required to perform a superhuman task under inhuman conditions. Just what do Protestants expect from their clergy?

Welfare Aid Limited By Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UPI) —The cheques went in the mails Friday for hard-pressed Illinois folk on welfare rolls.

A legislative deadlock over an emergency appropriation for the Illinois Public Aid Commission finally was broken after eight weeks of bitter dispute, with Republicans winning their demand for limits on aid.

The commission ran out of money about two weeks ago for general assistance and aid to dependent children. Legislators were involved in a controversy over a proposal to put limits on the aid payments, and measures to provide emergency funds got caught in the bind.

Garden Notes

Nurse Tiny Plants

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I imagine all of us are familiar with the woman who cannot walk past a hat shop without going in and trying on some fluffy confection to see how she looks in it. Among my male acquaintances there are several fishing enthusiasts who will walk a block out of their way to see what new and ingenious lures are displayed in a sporting goods shop window.

As for me, my compulsion is toward the plant stall and the garden centre. Wherever I see plants offered for sale, I must stop and snoop. And I must say I cannot help but be impressed by the quality and wide assortment of bedding-out annuals offered this year. These commercial growers seem to be very much on the bit—they have grand, sturdy young plants in all the latest varieties.

* * *

There are several ways in which you can buy bedding plants. If you want a dozen Plum Dandy or Coral Satin petunias, for instance, the man will dig them out of a shallow box or "flat" with a bit of soil around their roots and will wrap them in several layers of newspapers to take home. If you can use a fair number of petunias, he will sell you the whole flatful to carry away and he doesn't even charge you for the box.

Some dealers and stores are offering plants in smaller foil containers, each containing eight to a dozen plants. Some kinds which resent root disturbance, such as cucumber and squash plants, often are sold in individual containers which may be "plant bands" made of wood veneer or the new consumable fibre pots. Some of the more expensive plants such as geraniums, begonias and dracaenas are sold in the conventional clay pots.

* * *

No matter how you buy your plants, the keynote to successful planting lies in handling them with a minimum of root disturbance. The greatest risk lies in the dozen plants purchased out of a flat for, no matter how carefully the man digs them up out of the box, some loss of the delicate root hairs is inevitable. These plants will grow away quite nicely if handled intelligently and with gentle fingers, but you can't just throw the newspaper wrapped bundle of plants in the back of the car and forget about them until the spirit moves you to do a bit of planting. Speed is of the essence—the plants must be settled in and tucked up as quickly as possible.

* * *

There isn't anything like the same rush when you buy a whole flatful of plants, but don't leave these for long in the airless and oven-like atmosphere of your car trunk. Get them into a cool, shaded place and water them daily until planted out.

Shifting the plants out of their flat and into your flower beds also poses certain problems. Plants suffer something similar to surgical shock in transplanting, caused by the tearing away of the fine, invisible root hairs through which they take in water and food to sustain life. The trick is to lift them and transport them to their planting holes with the least possible damage to these root hairs, then keep them alive until new root hairs have established themselves in the soil.

Names Fill JOHN CROSBY'S Pockets

You Must Phone Xerxes!

PARIS—Since I have been in Europe, all sorts of helpful people have given me names and telephone numbers. "When you get to Athens, you must call Xerxes Lapidistros. He's the world's greatest expert on falconry. Here's his name and number."

I protest feebly. Falconry doesn't fit into my plans this summer. Still, Xerxe's name and number, in a hurried scribble, land in my pocket. I hardly ever wake up without finding a pocketful of names and telephone numbers from people I scarcely know to people I don't know at all.

* * *

I save them all because you never know when you might need an expert on falconry in Athens. I keep them all in a drawer—all these names and numbers and experts and quite amusing people and people who know where to find the very best sherdis in Pinsk (they turn out phony sherdis in Pinsk just for the tourist trade that look just like the real thing and you must be very careful). It's quite a collection.

I pick out one at random. Henri di Gasconcourt. ELY 4679. Must be some reason Henri is lying there with his telephone number in my drawer. Very amusing, maybe. Knows everyone, simply everyone in Sverdlosk. Falconry? Sherdis? Who knows?

* * *

I've forgotten everything. Who they are. Who gave them to me. What they do.

I've tried calling them: "Hello, Mr. di Gasconcourt. My name is Crosby. I'm an American newspaperman living in Paris. Would you mind telling me what your name and telephone number is doing in my drawer? Weren't you supopsed to tell me something? Well, think, man! Hello . . . hello. . . ."

Still, it's a shame to waste all these names and numbers. It's a very good list. In fact, I'll stack my list up against anyone else's list. For instance, Mustafa Galandos, 226742. Call him up if you're in Istanbul, or Cairo, or Salonika. Tell him you know me. No, he doesn't know me, but he knows one of my dearest friends, just which one I couldn't say.

Anyhow, he's very amusing, or helpful, or important. You'll need him if you're in Cairo, or Salonika, or Istanbul. I don't know how you've managed without Mustafa, all these years. Probably been getting thoroughly cheated on sherdis.

I've been thinking of listing them alphabetically and having them privately printed in a small, terribly expensive book. Sidle up to someone in a cafe, keeping my eyes straight to the front. "Want to buy some hot telephone numbers? Henri di Gasconcourt. Mustafa Galandos. They're all in here. And thousands more."

* * *

Well, I'd only sell them to strangers. You don't want your friends mingling with these people. But somebody has got to call them. It worries me when I think of them, sitting home, waiting for the telephone to ring, and it doesn't.

Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Young June No Tuesday

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—I will confess now I thought June Havoc was off her rocker when she took her play, Marathon 33, away from the experienced David Merrick and Gower Champion—Merrick was to direct. Now, with the Actor's Studio Theatre announcing the play as its first production next season, and with June's choice of Julie Harris to portray her, June was taking a big chance to get what she thought was right. Gower had wanted Tuesday Weld to play the teen-age June who was caught up in the terrible marathon drop-dead ballroom dancing of the 30s. "Over my dead body," June told him.

* * *

You will see Natalie Wood taking a bath in Love With a Proper Stranger, but not a shower. Nat hasn't taken a shower since she saw what happened to Janet Leigh in Psycho.

* * *

Dean Martin's acting in the movie version of Toys in the Attic puts him in the top dramatic acting class. Dean is deceptive in real life. He seems lazy and casual. He jokes all the time but he also works all the time.

* * *

Terry Thomas, the English comedian, was born Terry Hoar Stevens. Stevens spelled backwards is Snevets. And that's what he called himself on stage—Mot Snevets. Then he tried Thomas Terry, and then Terence Thomas. When you can deliver the goods, your name makes no difference.

* * *

Oh dear, Gary Crosby is putting back that weight again. The last time I saw him, he was so proud of his new waistline. And to make it worse, Gary's new picture is called Bikini.

* * *

Otto Preminger is glad to be back in Europe—he is editing The Cardinal in London. Or he would have been called to testify—as a character witness, I believe, in the Carol Linley-Mike Selsman mess.

* * *

Max Von Sydow who is portraying Christ in The Greatest Story Ever Told will not copy the example of H. B. Warner when he was Christ for Cecil B. De Mille in the first King of Kings. Warner agreed that he would not appear in any movies for five years after the premiere of the picture. When he tried to get work after that long, long time, he discovered he was all but forgotten.

* * *

Ava Gardner, far from refusing to appear at the big charity premiere of her 55 Days at Peking picture in London, was also there for Gregory Peck's To Kill a Mockingbird opener. In fact she went with him. And don't get the wrong idea. Mrs. Peck was along.

* * *

Now that Ann Sothern has sold her Bel Air home for a quarter of a million, she will be going east again to prepare for a play. Ann put all her beautiful furniture in storage. And this has depressed her. 'Tis true that furniture sort of dies in storage.

* * *

They do say that Marlene Dietrich and young Gardner McKay have flipped.

* * *

There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that Governor Rockefeller's marriage to his "Happy" will completely kill his chances for a presidential nomination in '64. For one thing he has lost the vote of every woman over 40. And add lookalikes. The second Mrs. Rockefeller, and the first.

Labor Council Plan

Adult Education Centre Centennial Project?

A proposed adult education centre should be Greater Victoria's project for the 1967 Canadian centennial, Victoria labor delegates have agreed.

Ald. A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, last night said the council will formally present the project for consideration as an official centennial project.

"With senior government grants being available for both vocational training centres and centennial projects, the local taxpayer would be left with little of the cost of the project to bear, he said.

He said the vocational training centre would be especially suitable because "everyone in Greater Victoria from 16 to 96 would become involved in it."

He said it would be "not just giving a facility to any particular group or groups. It would provide service to a much broader group than any other facility that I can think of."

He pointed out the Greater Victoria school board had stressed the great versatility of the proposed centre. The board plans to set up a community committee to study the proposals for the centre.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Looking into the future and predicting the course of coming events may seem like magic in everyday life, but it is a regular preoccupation of the bridge player. South had to exercise considerable foresight on this deal. He saw that normal play of drawing trumps would leave him stranded in dummy with no good lead.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 1 N.T. | Pass |
| 3 ♠ | Pass | 4 ♠ | All Pass |

Opening lead: Heart jack

After the one no-trump response, South tried for a game contract without feeling any certainty. His jump to three spades was simply encouraging and showed that he had a good six-card suit and hopes of game.

An intelligent alternative would have been two no trump, because the solid spade suit would be a powerful asset in a no-trump contract. North would continue to three no trump and make it for a strange reason. After the lead of the diamond queen, West eventually finds himself winning the third diamond trick with the five-spot. If the diamond five and four were interchanged, three no trump would be defeated.

North accepts any invitation to game because he has a near-maximum response of one no trump. Against four spades, West leads the heart jack, and declarer has to plan carefully.

As there is no prospect of a ruff in dummy, the obvious play is to take the first trick with the heart ace and draw trumps. But this leads to defeat, because when declarer leads a club to dummy's queen, he has no good continuation from dummy, and eventually loses a heart, a club and two diamonds.

The winning play is to take the heart lead with the ace and lead a club, with or without cashing one round of trumps. West ducks the club lead, but declarer can lead a trump from dummy and draw trumps. Then he leads the second club from his hand and a club trick is set up in dummy for a heart discard.

Vacation trailers for rent

TRAVELAIRE
Self-contained 15½-ft. built in Alberta. Selling fast everywhere before more expensive imports. Every bit as much lipstick and rouge plus better finishing and much better construction. We think for the first time in Western Canada a trailer that makes imports look cheap. Before you buy see this well-built, beautiful self-contained trailer which has improved on all travel trailers. This will be smiling down the road when most others are just a memory.

GORDON HEAD
1886 FELTHAM RD.
This lovely, large, well constructed, three bedroom home situated on a lot of over two acres, "almost an acre of landscaped grounds." An oil and hot air heating system located in a solid concrete basement makes this sturdily constructed home comfortable in all weather. Living room 20'x28' and an extra large kitchen make this 1,800 sq ft home ideal for entertaining.
A four room guest cottage in matching stucco makes an extra, seldom found in this area, but adds much to luxury living. For an inspection of this property phone J. M. Johnson, EV 2-7885 evenings.

LOVELY LAKE HILL BUNGALOW

2 KITCHENS
Older-type home with non-conforming "in-law" suite. New wiring and copper piping, but rather badly in need of a redecorating job. There is nothing wrong with this property that a mixture of determination and paint can't fix. Excellent location near Veterans Hospital. See this today with Don Bacon, EV 2-4256.
PRICE $7,500

RUGGED ELEGANCE
The massive rock formation of the ⅓-acre lot juts boldly into the waters of Portage Inlet. Secluded garden. Truly an atmosphere of character and distinction. Tremendous floor space that will be of special interest to party with an unusually large assortment of furniture. Living room 28x20. I am speechless and find myself quite unable to do justice to this most interesting property by the use of mere words. Please do not ask for telephone information. $13,900
$2,900 Down — $100 Month
Situated on high ground on a landscaped lot 67 ft. by 180 ft. with sweeping views over the hills, this two-year-old home is an excellent buy. The 18-ft. living room has an attractive fireplace and large aluminum window. This kitchen and dining room are smartly designed for step saving efficiency. The four-piece bathroom has a small vanity. The bedrooms are a nice size and two have sliding closet doors. The 18-ft recreation room is finished in mahogany and has a Roman-tile fireplace. The utility space is plumbed and wired for washer and dryer and there is rough plumbing ready for a second bathroom. Oil hot air plus heating and drive-in garage complete the picture. Considering the price and terms this is hard to beat. Call Mr. Yells, EV 2-2101 or Mr. Wright, GR 7-1639.

Electoral Signs

U.K. Soothsayer Needs Sharp Eyes

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — It takes a sharp-eyed soothsayer to read the electoral signs the way they're clouding up the crystal ball these days.

For the last few months party strategist Iain Macleod has been going around confidently predicting that the long-awaited British election will be held next year.

Now he is reported as reversing his field and confiding to party workers that they should be ready for an autumn election.

But in the same week, Conservative losses in local elections are interpreted by commentators as finally squelching the prospect of a ballot in the fall.

And when a bewildered reporter seeks guidance in Whitehall, he may be told that it is all a game of bluff and counter-bluff.

The sophisticated explanation is that Prime Minister Macmillan hasn't made up his mind, and that references to possible election dates, whatever their sources, are tossed out merely as political teasers.

These tantalizing references, it appears, are deliberately designed to keep the political opposition in a state of uncertainty. Already the word has gone out from Labor party headquarters to prepare for a nation-wide vote in October.

POSSIBLE BLUFF

But maybe even Labor is bluffing, trying to convince the Tories that it is banking on a fall election while secretly timing its preparations for a later date.

Amid all the moves and counter-moves, what is known is that the election must be held before October, 1964. Therefore Macmillan must make up his mind within the next few months whether to go to the country this year or wait until next spring.

After the disastrous winter of 1962-63, the Conservatives presumably will want to wait until the last ticking second in the hope that their luck will turn. But delay may involve a big gamble. If the weather in the winter of 1963-64 turns out to be as bad as last year, and if the Tories make as many blunders, there will hardly be time to retrieve their fortunes in 1964.

Perhaps the best bet is that if the sun shines warmly this summer and the opinion polls show a swing back to the Conservatives, the election will be held after all in October, confirming the guess some forecasters have clung to ever since election speculation started.

Poor Nations Need Help To Sell Goods

GENEVA (CP) — A round of tariff negotiations described as the keystone of the most ambitious trade expansion program in history began here Thursday with a U.S. plea for markets for the products of underdeveloped countries.

Christian Herter, chief U.S. delegate, told delegates of 73 countries money poured into the world's poorer countries would be wasted unless those countries also get help in selling their goods.

It's Flexible

New Suit Top Secret

NEW YORK (AP) — A businessmen's suit that flexes its muscles with the wearer, expands with his too - hearty lunches, and absorbs the sag in his breeches is just around the corner.

Last winter a few men tested them, and the stretch suits are scheduled for full-scale production in the fall.

CLASSIFIED

This information is treated by the industry as almost classified. Secrecy traditionally shrouds a rare men's wear innovation.

In the process of acquiring patents, DuPont Company admits that part-wool, part-synthetic fibres with elastic qualities are in the offing for men's suits from their laboratories, but declines to elaborate.

LESSON REMEMBERED

Also with patents pending, Burlington Mills has been quietly pioneering an all-wool stretch men's wear material for more than 16 months. A spokesman at the company said:

"Manufacturers are not exactly sneaking on to the market with these stretch suits, but they are being conservative. They were burned by all the noise made about so-called miracle fibres 10 years ago when the customer was disappointed. This time it's less talk, more action."

WOMEN ONLY

Originating in Switzerland during the Second World War, fibre with a rubbery springiness to it was monopolized by women's sportswear until recently. Exceptions were men's socks, which at first had a tendency to shrink until manufacturers found a way to stabilize sizes.

Because the narrow legs of stretch slacks do not constrict movement as ordinary materials do, the men's wear industry predicts that the currently popular narrow trousers may be trimmed even more. In fact, a fashion phase of tight, leotard-like pants, such as those worn in the 18th century, is not altogether out of the question in the future.

WON'T CLING

But stretch suits for men may be the big thing. Since certain garments can expand from 15 to 40 per cent, they automatically alter themselves on the hard-to-fit man.

A stretch suit gently adjusts, but unless the suit size is too small, it doesn't cling, manufacturers say.

When trade publications first hinted about men's stretchwear, Henry Sopkins of Atlanta, Ga., requested that a pair of tails be made for his work. In his gyrating job, he explained, the stretch suit would bear a real test.

And it has. He is conductor of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

North Saanich School Show Discloses Sparkling Talent

By BERT BINNY

Some sparkling talent was on hand yesterday evening at North Saanich Secondary school for the show, King Richard and the Gypsies.

No doubt it was fine weather and a long weekend ahead that kept the audience rather small but it was some fine performances on stage that kept the audience enthusiastic.

* * *

A cast from Grade 8 at North Saanich school presented a one-act play, Pipistrelle of Aquitaine. Directed by Quentin Russell the cast included Margo Dixon, Sarah Hillis, Ian Campbell, Jonathan Buckle, Ken Campbell, Robert McLellan, Richard Whally, Russell Brown and Ricky Jackson.

They were somewhat restricted as to space in which to move but, nevertheless, there was evidence of considerable promise in some of the performances.

* * *

A variety show followed with most of the background music supplied by an efficient and musical group, The Wayfarers. A duet by Cathie and Linda Douma was really pleasing — even if indifferently presented. Acrobat Linda Lambie and accordionist Paul Paquin were also excellent.

* * *

A bevy of gipsy dancers, who, considering their status and calling, looked remarkably clean, danced vigorously and Rino Elverhoy was his usual pleasing and melodious self with vocal selections. Violinist Glen Hamilton should have been accompanied. Magician Wileo added a touch of mystery to the whole proceedings.

The show was produced by Phyllis Orchard and proceeds go to the Secondary school scholarship fund.

City's Big Question

'How Far, How Fast' On Capital Projects

Major decision facing city council in the next few months is the question of 'how far and how fast" to go on a capital budget to be submitted to ratepayers in December, Mayor R. B. Wilson said Friday.

It will require a great deal of study notwithstanding the "heartening" news from Ottawa that the federal government will provide low-interest loans to municipalities.

UP TO VOTERS

By the end of the year, the mayor said, council will be ready to make its recommendations to ratepayers. It will then be up to the voters to signify which of the desirable and necessary projects they would like to see undertaken at this time.

He suggested aldermen begin soon to establish a list of priority capital projects, though it is unlikely the final selection will begin until after arrival of Dennis Young, who takes over July 1 as city manager.

WIDE RANGE

Consideration will likely be given to a wide range of projects.

Mayor Wilson said this should extend to such projects as renovation of the police station, improvement of the Causeway, and extension of sewer outfalls to make all city beaches safe for swimmers.

STREET WORK

There are several projects that require re-routing and re-development of some city streets to create a better traffic flow, he said. Johnson Street bridge needs re-decking.

Connection of Rose Street to Blanshard must still be settled, but depends in large measure on the provincial government's decision, still to be taken, on location of the main entry to the city from the north.

Mayor Wilson added: "There is no doubt that a bridge connecting Store Street to Rock Bay Avenue would be most advantageous, and create a through route that would relieve the congestion and noise on Government Street."

New Tenant In Office Of Husband

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson four weeks ago left it to his wife and Mrs. Diefenbaker, wife of the former minister, to work out details of switching official residences.

But apparently he didn't tell his wife that he and Mr. Diefenbaker also were exchanging House of Commons offices.

Mrs. Pearson, who attended Friday's sitting of the Commons, left the chamber and headed for Mr. Pearson's old office.

Mr. Diefenbaker's staff told her when she walked casually through the door that the new prime minister now occupied a suite one floor below. She apologized and beat a hasty retreat.

Fight Coming Over Salmon

A hard fight over a Vancouver Island-backed fisheries resolution is expected at the coming annual meeting in Vancouver of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce.

John Wallace, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, told a meeting of the city chamber Friday "pretty strong sides, for and against," are developing on the question of the fisheries resolution.

The resolution is based on a brief by Vancouver Island's Amalgamated Conservation Society calling for equitable distribution of salmon stocks between commercial and sports fishermen.

The resolution was taken up by the Victoria chamber and approved at the early April meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

BRIEF REVIEWED

Mr. Wallace said Thursday Victoria directors are reviewing the brief to make sure Vancouver Island's presentation at the B.C. chamber meeting is "absolutely factual."

It is understood opposition to some provisions of the brief is expected from commercial fishing interests, by way of certain mainland chambers.

ALSO ATTENDING

The B.C. chamber's annual convention will be May 26 to 28. Mr. Wallace will be Victoria's voting delegate and vice-president E. E. Pearman, past-president A. E. Walters, directors Pat Frumento and Sam Lane and chamber manager John Coppinger also will attend.

Other area delegates will be Robert Wright of the Oak Bay Board of Trade, who is closely associated with the fishing resolution, and D. W. Ruffle of the Sidney and North Saanich chamber.

Dog Repellent

Squirt Draws Interest

Victoria postmaster Allan Davies expressed cautious interest last night in a dog repellant called Halt, which Vancouver mailmen are asking Ottawa for approval to use.

Mailmen in the United States squirt an aggressive dog with the fluid from a distance, and the dog is supposed to slink away at the smell of it.

AS SAFEGUARD

Mailmen in Vancouver said they can usually fend off a mean dog at the gate, but they would like a little repellant as a safeguard.

"We would be interested if our department approves it in Ottawa, but public reaction also has to be considered, and we would have to have approval by the SPCA or the humane society," said Mr. Davies.

"There is a fair incidence of dog bites here," he added.

Sawmills Busy On Island

Sawmills and plywood plants on Vancouver Island were operating at near-capacity during April, according to a summary of employment conditions released yesterday by the National Employment Service.

"Practically all sawmills on the lower mainland and Vancouver Island are maintaining near-capacity output. Local demand for lumber is steady and shipments to export markets have been heavy," the report stated.

It also said that the volume and production in all plywood and veneer plants is "well above average for this period of the year."

No holiday shutdowns are anticipated, employment is stable and labor turnover in the industry is minimum, stated the report, which added that mills plan extensive hiring of university students for holiday relief purposes.

Salmon Show Big Rise

Spring salmon landings almost doubled those of the previous week, with the bulk of the deliveries landed by packer service, according to the fish marketing report of the department of fisheries for the week ending May 11.

It was a light week for groundfish, in part due to weather conditions, and the Fraser River eulachon run was virtually finished, the report said.

Herring for reduction totalled 295 tons and gillnetters delivered an additional 3,600 pounds for the fresh market.

Shrimp landings declined about one-third from the last week, but crab sales were appreciably higher than both last week and the same period last year, said the report.

In the Prince Rupert area landings of salmon and trawl bottom fish were light.

Halibut deliveries totalled slightly more than 300,000 pounds.

The volume of crabs landed was almost double last week's total, but shrimp landings increased only slightly, the report said.

Ex-Engineer E. Plowright Dies Aged 88

Funeral services were held Friday for a former chief engineer of the Moore-Whittington Lumber Company and the Phoenix Brewery, Edward Plowright, 88, who died Tuesday in his home at 4010 Quadra Street.

Born in Lincolnshire, England, Mr. Plowright was a resident of Victoria since 1908.

Prior to his retirement in 1944, he had been chief engineer at the Moore-Whittington Lumber Co. for eight years, and then for the Phoenix Brewery for 15 years.

Surviving are his wife, Georgina; two daughters, Mrs. C. R. (Kathleen) Shour of San Francisco and Mrs. J. (Jean) Vesey of Lake Cowichan; one son, V. H. Plowright of Millbrae, Calif.; and five grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Liberals Weather Barrage

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the new ministers were nervous. Otherwise the Liberal government weathered its first big test in the Commons with a willing exchange of political barbs.

Stretching to a lengthy hour and 15 minutes, the initial question period was heavily laden with queries — and answers—framed as much for political scores as information. Speaker Alan Macnaughton's calls to order were infrequent but firm.

TORIES JEER

At one point, the gleeful Conservative opposition benches burst into jeers and laughter when, having challenged Finance Minister Walter Gordon to "unpeg" the dollar, they got this reply: ". . . In my view it is the responsibility of all honorable members of this House . . . not to cast any doubts upon the strength or permanence of the dollar."

When in opposition, the Liberals were severely critical of the former Conservative government's decision in May, 1962 to peg the dollar to 92½ cents in exchange for the American dollar.

HOLD DOLLAR LINE

Mr. Gordon said Friday the government will do everything possible to hold the dollar to its present exchange rate.

In his dignified manner, Justice Minister Lionel Chevrier scored one for the Liberals by telling Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) that departmental files reveal no trace of any legal opinion on which the former government imposed import surcharges by order-in-council last June.

"AS SUSPECTED"

This was as the Liberals, when in opposition, "suspected at the time," Mr. Chevrier said. The Conservatives were silent.

It recalled the bitter scrap of last session when the opposition tried unsuccessfully to get finance minister Donald Fleming to table the legal opinion. Several suits now have been filed in the Exchequer Court of Canada to recover the surcharges, since dismantled.

The debate resumes Monday when the House meets at 2:30 p.m. EDT. It will be the so-called "leader's day" — with speeches from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker,, Prime Minister Pearson, Social Credit Leader Thompson and New Democratic Leader Douglas, in that order.

Greensboro Jails Get 350 More

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Several hundred Negro college students patiently and quietly lined up front of segregated downtown cafeterias and theatres Friday night and invited arrest.

Police took about 350 of the estimated 600 unprotesting demonstrators to jail.

Cooper Saw Neighborhood

ABOARD USS KEARSARGE (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper marveled Friday at the clarity with which he could pin-point spots on earth from more than 100 miles in space. He even spotted his own neighborhood in Houston, Tex.

* * *

"It was an ideal day for an ideal flight," Cooper told Capt. Richard Pollard, the recovery physician. (See also Page 11.)

The astronaut said he could see smoke curling from houses in Tibetan villages and was amazed at the grandeur of the Himalayas. He said he also saw clearly a ground lighting experiment in South Africa.

* * *

The experiment was designed to test the spaceman's ability to spot a light of known intensity—in this case 3,000,000 candlepower—for the future task of guiding men back from moon trips. The xenon bulb burned for three minutes in the town of Bloemfontein during Cooper's sixth orbit.

* * *

Cooper said he saw all of the Florida coast and as far north as Washington or New York.

Cooper said he awoke from one of his orbiting catnaps startled to discover his weightless arms outstretched in front of him. When he decided to settle back for his 7½-hour snooze, he said, he tucked his thumbs under his harness straps to keep his hands from accidentally flipping a switch while he slept. Russian cosmonauts also took this precaution.

* * *

Pollard said Cooper also told him he had dreamed during his flight "but he doesn't recall the contents of the dream." Ground physicians had suspected Cooper was dreaming when his heartbeat, monitored by sensors, quickened suddenly and then returned to normal.

Liquor Store Staff Suspended

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — The manager and four-man staff of the British Columbia government liquor store here were suspended following an investigation by the Liquor Control Board, it was reported Friday.

Col. Donald McGugan, liquor board chairman, would not comment on the report other than to say that it was an internal matter.

U.S. Cuts Relations With Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has cut off all diplomatic contacts with the Haitian government of Francois Duvalier for the past three days, officials disclosed.

State department informants said the action was not a formal "suspension" of diplomatic relations in the usual diplomatic sense of the word.

* * *

"There just haven't been any contacts," one official said. He said there had been no diplomatic contacts between the U.S. embassy in Port-au-Prince and the Haitian government or between the Haitian embassy here since Tuesday night.

Officials here said that if some incident occured requiring diplomatic contacts, they could be immediately re-established as though there had been no break.

* * *

Such a case might arise if an American citizen in Haiti were arrested and in need of diplomatic protection.

Flood Aid 100 Per Cent

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — A policy providing for 100 per cent compensation for residential property and 80 per cent for personal effects was established Friday by the Northwest Territories council for flood-stricken residents of Hay River and Fort Simpson.

Compensation costs will be shared by the territorial and federal governments.

SUGAR STIRS WATCHDOGS

From CP and AP

Government anti-combines investigators are checking sugar prices, the House of Commons was told Friday as the wholesale price of sugar was pushed to $16 per 100 pounds by one Montreal sugar refinery.

Wholesale price Jan. 1 was $9.10.

Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) asked Justice Minister Chevrier if he had made inquiries regarding prices in Canada rising "drastically" compared with those in the U.S.

Mr. Chevrier replied information indictaes that was not the case, but the combines branch was looking into the matter.

BEET PRODUCTION

Agriculture Minister Harry Hays, replying to an earlier question, said measures to stimulate sugar beet production are under consideration.

In Montreal, three major sugar refineries announced price increases of 75 cents per 100 pounds. These included Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., St. Lawrence Sugar Refineries Ltd. and Canada and Dominion Sugar Co. Ltd.

RAISED AGAIN

A short time later, Canada and Dominion Sugar said it had raised its price again, this time by 10 cents. It was the fifth increase this week for Canada and Dominion Sugar, the fourth for the other refineries.

In New York, there was speculation sugar price hikes soon will be reflected at the grocery store level in higher prices for candy, preserves, soft drinks, ice cream, syrups and other sugar-using items.

SMALLER PACKS

They may even lead to smaller packs of chewing gum, one producer said.

But nothing was in sight to match the doubling of retail prices that has hit some communities in Brazil, and severe dislocations in some other countries.

In the background is a tightening of the world sugar supply rooted in crop troubles and harvest difficulties in Europe, Cuba and other growing areas.

The shortage sent sugar issues spiralling on the New York Stock Exchange.

A wholesale price increase by major New York-based refiners earlier this week was the 12th of the year, lifting one key grade to $14.20 for 100 pounds.

ABRUPT COLLAPSE

The level was the highest since the world-wide sugar shortage following the First World War when prices skyrocketed to roughly twice the present height, then abruptly collapsed.

Some experts predict a continued climb until fall when growers in the U.S. and Europe begin harvesting sugar beets, a cheaper substitute for the scarce variety produced from cane.

NEW ENGLAND

Already, many housewives in the New England area are paying seven cents more for a five-pound bag or carton of sugar, the result of gradual increases in recent months.

Several candymakers have reported rises in wholesale prices, and some—including the Walter H. Johnson Candy Company of Chicago—say they are considering a reduction in the size of bars.

* * *

Candy, Cookies

Confections Face Rise

Wholesale sugar prices hit a new high in Canada Friday and it looks as if the increase will be reflected in consumer costs for candy and cookies.

But indications are carbonated beverages will stay at the same price . . . at least for the time being.

"I think any commodity related to sugar, our own included, will have to go up," A. W. O'Keeffe, Victoria representative for Paulin Chambers Ltd., said last night.

EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

"Our latest quote from head office is there will be an increase in the price of biscuits effective June 1 at the wholesale level.

"Cost of bulk candy has risen very slightly on two occasions recently and there possibly will be a slight reduction in the weight of bag candy and chocolate bars to keep them at 10 cents. Our box chocolates have gone up four to five cents a box."

Noel Wolfe, managing director of Victoria Beverages Ltd., said he could not forecast a price rise in the immediate future.

"We had an increase two weeks ago at the wholesale level —15 cents a case. It is up to the retailer how he sets his prices, of course, but we kept it as small as possible.

ALL DEPENDS

"There is no intent to make a move again, for the time being. It all depends on how high the price goes."

For the housewife, the skyrocketing price of sugar is definitely reflected in her food bill. In January a 10-pound bag of sugar cost 97 cents; today it will cost $1.77.

Frail Boy Pulls Man from Tracks

MALDEN, Mass. (UPI)—A 13-year-old asthmatic boy dragged a 67-year-old man off railroad tracks Thursday seconds before a train sped by. He then hurried away so he wouldn't be late for instructions from a tutor.

* * *

Police said that Paul Broussard, who suffered from asthma since birth and weighs only 72 pounds, was on his way to special classes when he saw a man trip on railroad tracks while trying to get out of the way of a train.

Paul raced to the track and pulled the man, Francis O'Rourke, to safety as the train sped by, inches away.

* * *

The boy, who did not identify himself then turned and hurried away. He was en route to special tutoring classes to make up for school time lost because of illness.

Police, train officials and others were trying to identify the heroic child when, hours later, Mrs. Louis Broussard was discussing a newspaper report of the incident with her son.

* * *

Paul said he had a difficult time pulling O'Rourke to safety.

"I knew the man couldn't help himself and someone had to and I was there."

Montreal Terror Spreads

MONTREAL (CP) — Terrorists struck with time - bombs placed in mail boxes Friday.

Explosions caused critical injury to an army explosives expert, shattered six mail boxes and damaged property.

Five more bombs were found in mail boxes and dismantled. Five suspected bombs were hauled to safety—mail boxes and all—to await dismantling.

Sgt.-Maj. Walter Rolland Leja, 45-year-old bomb demolition expert with the Royal Canadian Engineers, suffered serious injuries when a time-bomb he was removing from a mail box exploded.

Earlier he had dismantled one bomb and placed another in an open field to await dismantling or demolition later.

* * *

At St. Mary's Hospital, doctors amputated his left arm at the elbow, then worked on his chest and face injuries. He was on the operating table about five hours, the army said.

Police did not attribute the bombings to any person or terrorist organization. However, an outlaw separatist group—le Front de Liberation Quebecois—has claimed responsibility in mailed press statements for a series of bombings in recent months.

One such bombing, at the rear of an army recruiting station here, caused the death of night watchman W. V. O'Neill, 65, April 20.

The series of bombings Friday kept residential Westmount on the alert for more than seven hours. Westmount, a separate municipality of about 32,000 is entirely surrounded by Montreal territory in the west-central part of the city. About two-thirds of its population is English-speaking.

* * *

About 3 a.m. the first of five bombs in mail boxes exploded. The explosions, within 20 minutes, were in widely-scattered points of Westmount, including one a stone's throw from the municipality's police station.

Lesage Fights Bombs With 'Special Efforts'

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage, who attended a cabinet meeting Friday against his doctor's orders, said he has asked Quebec Provincial Police to make "special efforts" to break a ring of bomb-planting terrorists in the province.

"I have asked the provincial police to make special efforts and to report to me," he said following a 2½-hour cabinet sitting.

Mr. Lesage had been ordered to rest Friday to clear up a heavy cold contracted during his recent trip to Europe.

Frontier Buildup By Red Chinese

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government said Friday Communist China has been concentrating increasing numbers of troops along the disputed frontier with India.

Chinese troops have infiltrated into the neutralized zone at one point in the Ladakh area and India has protested the action in a note to Peking, a foreign office spokesman said.

$700,000 Project

Harbor Improvement May Start This Year

An Inner Harbor development project described in an exclusive Colonist news story last December may be the Capital Improvement District Commission's next major venture.

It is considered the most probable of three alternative projects already scheduled for consideration this year.

The others are a start on a Gorge waterway rehabilitation scheme and extension of the Marine Drive concept of view roads through the Greater Victoria municipalities.

Plans for the harbor project were commissioned in 1960.

They were drawn up in their original form by Victoria architect Douglas Shadbolt for the Capital Region Planning Board and paid for by the CIDC.

BELOW CAUSEWAY

A modified form of the plan, and the one under consideration by the CIDC, calls for a broad water-level promenade below the Causeway on the south, east and north sides of the harbor, a water-level stage, floral decorations, expanded small-craft facilities and benches.

Cost of the promenade and some of the other features has been estimated at $700,000.

FIRST PHASE

If the CIDC approves the project it would probably embark on the first phase this year.

The CIDC was granted $200,000 with which to further its capital projects in 1963.

But before the harbor plan go-ahead can be given, the CIDC will have to get federal approval.

FEDERAL AID LIKELY

Federal aid for part of the cost of the work is considered a possibility.

First task in the project will be to shore up the existing Causeway whose foundations have caused some concern in recent years.

Engineers say that any attempt at dredging the harbor could upset certain ballancing pressures which hold the massive rock structure in place.

Commission May Result

DUNCAN — Duncan and North Cowichan recently decided to appoint two council members each as advisors for their committees on parks, playgrounds and recreational facilities.

Aldermen and councillors felt this new committee could be the forerunner of a combined and permanent parks and recreation commission.

Another highlight: A general discussion on sewer and water systems, garbage disposal grounds, school costs, civil defence and flood control.

Chamber Issue

Fight Coming Over Salmon

A hard fight over a Vancouver Island-backed fisheries resolution is expected at the coming annual meeting in Vancouver of the B.C. Chamber of Commerce.

John Wallace, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, told a meeting of the city chamber Friday "pretty strong sides, for and against," are developing on the question of the fisheries resolution.

The resolution is based on a brief by Vancouver Island's Amalgamated Conservation Society calling for equitable distribution of salmon stocks between commercial and sports fishermen.

The resolution was taken up by the Victoria chamber and approved at the early April meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Vancouver Island.

BRIEF REVIEWED

Mr. Wallace said Thursday Victoria directors are reviewing the brief to make sure Vancouver Island's presentation at the B.C. chamber meeting is "absolutely factual."

It is understood opposition to some provisions of the brief is expected from commercial fishing interests, by way of certain mainland chambers.

ALSO ATTENDING

The B.C. chamber's annual convention will be May 26 to 28. Mr. Wallace will be Victoria's voting delegate and vice-president E. E. Pearlman, past-president A. E. Walters, directors Pat Frumento and Sam Lane and chamber manager John Coppinger also will attend.

Other area delegates will be Robert Wright of the Oak Bay Board of Trade, who is closely associated with the fishing resolution, and D. W. Ruffle of the Sidney and North Saanich chamber.

Trustees Shelve Cricket Field Bid

DUNCAN — The controversial cricket ground sale proposal by the Cowichan Cricket Club popped up at the last meeting of the Cowichan school board following a letter from the Duncan Ratepayers' Association which suggests retaining the $22,000 property.

A similar letter was recently received by Duncan which was asked to carry out a full investigation.

SCHOOL SITE

Association president Gordon Lennox said the field could be used as a playing field or an elementary school site.

School trustees here decided to file the correspondence until the city has made a decision. Chances are the city will buy the grounds, it was reported.

VANCOUVER BID

A bid from Willock Truck and Equipment Company Ltd. of Vancouver for a $13,960 new school bus was approved by the school board. The bus builders have supplied two buses to the district.

The company will allow $800 trade-in on the old bus, but the board might decide to keep it. Trustee J. S. C. Fraser suggested converting the vehicle into a truck or keeping it for a possible resale later on.

Putting the old bus into good condition would cost about $1,000, said trustee Mrs. Nancy Bailey.

TO MEET UNION

The Board plans to meet with local 1-80 IWA officials to discuss the arbitrary board policy for retirement of employees.

Trustee Joe Frumento said it will be unnecessary to discuss the union's second request—the physical examination for school bus drivers—as the Cowichan school district's policy states every bus driver has to have a yearly examination.

The argument over a part of Nagle Street between Duncan and the school board is still unsolved. The city wants to retain the ownership and the board wants the title to make sure it cannot be used for anything but a playground for the nearby elementary school.

The board feels it should have the title to all board lands as covered in the provincial bylaw. Trustee Pat Mason said if the city uses this section for a street extension it would cut down the playing area and be a hazard to pupils.

NOT REALTORS

Trustee Mrs. Isobel Tarlton said the city is implying the board is in the real estate business and might take advantage of a possible rise in the value of the land.

She said the board has no intention of becoming a real estate business.

Annual track meet between the secondary schools in the district will be held May 30.

Trustee Named

NANAIMO — Following the resignation of Mrs. Jack Tully as a school trustee due to change of residence, trustee Waldie Manion has been appointed finance committee chairman.

Cleanup Today

Saanich junior forest wardens will start the holiday weekend today by giving up their time to help regular wardens clean up campsites in Goldstream Park. This is an annual summertime project.

Decision On Noise Deferred

NANAIMO (CP)—The fight over noise went to a magistrate's court Thursday, but neither opponent won a decision.

After a day hearing charges against G. W. Dorman Pulp Chip Company, alleged to have contravened Nanaimo's anti-noise bylaw Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts set the case over until some time in June.

The courtroom was packed to hear arguments by Sid Clark, lawyer for the company, and crown prosecutor Don Cunliffe.

Mr. Clark said the bylaw is ultra vires, exceeding the powers given the city by the Municipal Act.

Mr. Cunliffe said the bylaw escapes the provisions of the act because the bylaw was in effect before enactment of the section in dispute.

Magistrate Beevor-Potts said there are two problems to consider apart from the legal point: danger to the life of a local industry and the possibility a nuisance actually exists.

History Reopens in Victoria

Pioneer Names in Renovation Ceremony

Close to 150 people—some bearing the names of Victoria's earlies pioneer families—crowded around historic Helmcken House yesterday as Premier Bennett officiated at a reopening ceremony following a $31,000 renovation.

The 110-year-old house on Elliott Street, opposite the provincial government's Douglas Building, will be open all weekend at no charge. Admission rates of 25 cents for adults and 10 cents for children go into effect Tuesday.

* * *

The renovation included replacement of rotted foundation piles with concrete, laying a shake roof, painting and wallpapering.

Helmcken House is considered the oldest original home in the province.

It was built by Dr. John Sebastian Helmcken, who moved into it with his bride in 1853—and apparently regretted it.

* * *

In his writings he said: "Mr. Douglas (Governor James Douglas) gave me an acre of land, wanted me to live on it, there would be mutual aid in case of trouble at any time from Indians. . . . I ought never to have built there and soon found it very inconvenient away from my office in the fort. The piece of land was very rough and cost a good deal of time and money to clear."

* * *

Dr. Helmcken was the member for Esquimalt in the first legislature, one of the architects of B.C.'s entry into confederation and B.C.'s first speaker.

The home is full of his possessions and features a glass wall panel through which visitors can view the original hand-hewn wall timbers.

Ten-Year Project

Steel Cruiser Dream Fulfilled

A 10year dream came to life yesterday with the launching of the 40-foot all-steel cabin cruiser "Rana" at the government graving dock in Esquimalt.

Builder Vincent Horth, 105 View Royal, says the cruiser will be worth $1,000 a foot when he completes it in about seven month's time.

OWN DESIGN

The ex-RCN shipwright, who retired as a CPO last September, built the craft from his own design. He first made a half-breadth wooden model and had it checked by a friend who is a naval architect.

His design approved, he began fabrication of parts in 1952.

WORKED WHILE AWAY

"I spent three years in Levis, Quebec, and two years in Regina," he said, "and I worked on transoms, deck beams, stem, and keel even while I was away from home.

"This is why I decided to use steel. It's more expensive than wood but I knew it wouldn't dry out and warp while I was building the cruiser."

KEEL LAID IN 1957

The keel of the "Rana" was laid in 1957 and work has progressed steadily ever since.

This is not the first boat-building venture for Mr. Horth. He has been building 14 and 15-foot wooden sailboats for years. Most have been sold but he still has a couple left.

This is the first all-steel boat he has built, however.

The sleek hull will be fitted out in plywood and will sleep two.

EXTRA ROOM

"There is room for another cabin aft but I may want to go commercial fishing or take out fishing parties, so I'm not finishing it just yet," Mr. Horth said.

The craft will be powered by a six-cylinder Lister diesel engine. "Rana" had a public launching yesterday, when Mrs. Horth broke a bottle of wine over the hull.

Designer Happy with Job

Striding along deck of newly-launched 40-foot all-steel cabin cruiser "Rana," owner - designer - builder Vincent Horth, 105 View Royal, looks happy about way boat took to water at government graving dock in Esquimalt yesterday. Cruiser will be worth $40,000 when completed. — (Robin Clarke)

1924 Reo Enters Car Rally

NANAIMO — A highly polished grey automobile rolled into Nanaimo Friday and the people flocked around.

The car was a 1924 Reo, the initials of Ramaden E. Olds, the granddaddy of the Oldsmobile, and it is here to take part in the Vintage Car Club of Canada parade this weekend as part of Empire Day celebrations.

SEATTLE OWNER

L. J. Haight of Seattle bought the car in Utah. He has driven it from Colorado to Seattle and this week headed the gleaming relic for Nanaimo at a steady 40 miles per hour.

HOSPITALITY

"This is the first time I have taken part in a Canadian rally," said Mr. Haight, "but if Canadians are as hospitable all over as were the motorists of Vancouver, then I certainly plan on coming back."

Mr. Haight said the Vancouver motorists displayed unusual consideration for his slow chugging Reo and made every attempt to give him a clear run through the city.

Area Participation Asked for Courses

PORT ALBERNI—Community participation is being sought in a project to improve the educational standards of unemployed in this area.

Up-grading to prepare out-of-work persons for vocational and pre-apprenticeship training is the object of the plan initiated by Alberni Valley Winter Employment Committee.

APPROACH BOARD

At a meeting of the committee this week it was decided to ask the school board for a classroom and a teacher to supervise correspondence course study in the plan formed after a suggestion of former school principal Harold Murray.

Mr. Murray, who had been named to a sub-committee set up to study the plan, said a conveniently located classroom, certain simple equipment and one or two supervising teachers will be required. Two shifts might be necessary.

Various branches of mathematics, English, social studies and elementary science would be recommended as the courses to be taken through the department of education correspondence school.

Interest of city councils and service clubs would be essential for success of the plan, it was pointed out.

COULD BE READY

If the school board's proposals for incorporation of a vocational school with Alberni District Secondary School materializes by September, 1964, adults taking the correspondence courses in the coming term could be ready to enroll.

The winter employment committee, recessing for the summer months, directed the sub-committee to continue the work.

Nurse Tiny Plants

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I imagine all of us are familiar with the woman who cannot walk past a hat shop without going in and trying on some fluffy confection to see how she looks in it. Among my male acquaintances there are several fishing enthusiasts who will walk a block out of their way to see what new and ingenious lures are displayed in a sporting goods shop window.

As for me, my compulsion is toward the plant stall and the garden centre. Wherever I see plants offered for sale, I must stop and snoop. And I must say I cannot help but be impressed by the quality and wide assortment of bedding-out annuals offered this year. These commercial growers seem to be very much on the bit—they have grand, sturdy young plants in all the latest varieties.

* * *

There are several ways in which you can buy bedding plants. If you want a dozen Plum Dandy or Coral Satin petunias, for instance, the man will dig them out of a shallow box or "flat" with a bit of soil around their roots and will wrap them in several layers of newspapers to take home. If you can use a fair number of petunias, he will sell you the whole flatful to carry away and he doesn't even charge you for the box.

Some dealers and stores are offering plants in smaller foil containers, each containing eight to a dozen plants. Some kinds which resent root disturbance, such as cucumber and squash plants, often are sold in individual containers which may be "plant bands" made of wood veneer or the new consumable fibre pots. Some of the more expensive plants such as geraniums, begonias and dracaenas are sold in the conventional clay pots.

* * *

No matter how you buy your plants, the keynote to successful planting lies in handling them with a minimum of root disturbance. The greatest risk lies in the dozen plants purchased out of a flat for, no matter how carefully the man digs them up out of the box, some loss of the delicate root hairs is inevitable. These plants will grow away quite nicely if handled intelligently and with gentle fingers, but you can't just throw the newspaper-wrapped bundle of plants in the back of the car and forget about them until the spirit moves you to do a bit of planting. Speed is of the essence—the plants must be settled in and tucked up as quickly as possible.

* * *

There isn't anything like the same rush when you buy a whole flatful of plants, but don't leave these for long in the airless and oven-like atmosphere of your car trunk. Get them into a cool, shaded place and water them daily until planted out.

Shifting the plants out of their flat and into your flower beds also poses certain problems. Plants suffer something similar to surgical shock in transplanting, caused by the tearing away of the fine, invisible root hairs through which they take in water and food to sustain life. The trick is to lift them and transport them to their planting holes with the least possible damage to these root hairs, then keep them alive until new root hairs have established themselves in the soil.

Names Fill JOHN CROSBY'S Pockets

You Must Phone Xerxes!

PARIS—Since I have been in Europe, all sorts of helpful people have given me names and telephone numbers. "When you get to Athens, you must call Xerxes Lapidistros. He's the world's greatest expert on falconry. Here's his name and number."

I protest feebly. Falconry doesn't fit into my plans this summer. Still, Xerxe's name and number, in a hurried scribble, land in my pocket. I hardly ever wake up without finding a pocketful of names and telephone numbers from people I scarcely know to people I don't know at all.

* * *

I save them all because you never know when you might need an expert on falconry in Athens. I keep them all in a drawer—all these names and numbers and experts and quite amusing people and people who know where to find the very best sherdis in Pinsk (they turn out phony sherdis in Pinsk just for the tourist trade that look just like the real thing and you must be very careful). It's quite a collection.

I pick out one at random. Henri di Gasconcourt. ELY 1679. Must be some reason Henri is lying there with his telephone number in my drawer. Very amusing, maybe. Knows everyone, simply everyone in Sverdlosk. Falconry? Sherdis? Who knows?

* * *

I've forgotten everything. Who they are. Who gave them to me. What they do.

I've tried calling them: "Hello, Mr. di Gasconcourt. My name is Crosby. I'm an American newspaperman living in Paris. Would you mind telling me what your name and telephone number is doing in my drawer? Weren't you supposed to tell me something? Well, think, man! Hello . . . hello. . . ."

Still, it's a shame to waste all these names and numbers. It's a very good list. In fact, I'll stack my list up against anyone else's list. For instance, Mustafa Galandos, 226-742. Call him up if you're in Istanbul, or Cairo, or Salonika. Tell him you know me. No, he doesn't know me, but he knows one of my dearest friends, just which one I couldn't say.

Anyhow, he's very amusing, or helpful, or important. You'll need him if you're in Cairo, or Salonika, or Istanbul. I don't know how you've managed without Mustafa, all these years. Probably been getting thoroughly cheated on sherdis.

I've been thinking of listing them alphabetically and having them privately printed in a small, terribly expensive book. Sidle up to someone in a cafe, keeping my eyes straight to the front. "Want to buy some hot telephone numbers? Henri di Gasconcourt. Mustafa Galandos. They're all in here. And thousands more."

* * *

Well, I'd only sell them to strangers. You don't want your friends mingling with these people. But somebody has got to call them. It worries me when I think of them, sitting home, waiting for the telephone to ring, and it doesn't.

Young June No Tuesday

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—I will confess now I thought June Haver was off her rocker when she took her play, Marathon 33, away from the experienced David Merrick and Gower Champion. Merrick was to direct. Now, with the Actor's Studio Theatre announcing the play as its first production next season, and with June's choice of Julie Harris to portray her, June was taking a big chance to get what she thought was right. Gower had wanted Tuesday Weld to play the teen-age June who was caught up in the terrible marathon drop-dead ballroom dancing of the 30s. "Over my dead body," June told him.

* * *

You will see Natalie Wood taking a bath in Love With a Proper Stranger, but not a shower. Nat hasn't taken a shower since she saw what happened to Janet Leigh in Psycho.

* * *

Dean Martin's acting in the movie version of Toys in the Attic puts him in the top dramatic acting class. Dean is deceptive in real life. He seems lazy and casual. He jokes all the time but he also works all the time.

* * *

Terry Thomas, the English comedian, was born Terry Hoar Stevens. Stevens spelled backwards is Snevets. And that's what he called himself on stage—Mot Snevets. Then he tried Thomas Terry, and then Terence Thomas. When you can deliver the goods, your name makes no difference.

* * *

Oh dear, Gary Crosby is putting back that weight again. The last time I saw him, he was so proud of his new waistline. And to make it worse, Gary's new picture is called Bikini.

* * *

Otto Preminger is glad to be back in Europe—he is editing The Cardinal in London. Or he would have been called to testify—as a character witness, I believe, in the Carol Linley-Mike Selsman mess.

* * *

Max Von Sydow who is portraying Christ in The Greatest Story Ever Told will not copy the example of H. B. Warner when he was Christ for Cecil B. De Mille in the first King of Kings. Warner agreed that he would not appear in any movies for five years after the premiere of the picture. When he tried to get work after that long, long time, he discovered he was all but forgotten.

* * *

Ava Gardner, far from refusing to appear at the big charity premiere of her 55 Days at Peking picture in London, was also there for Gregory Peck's To Kill a Mockingbird opener. In fact she went with him. And don't get the wrong idea. Mrs. Peck was along.

* * *

Now that Ann Sothern has sold her Bel Air home for a quarter of a million, she will be going east again to prepare for a play. Ann put all her beautiful furniture in storage. And this has depressed her. 'Tis true that furniture sort of dies in storage.

* * *

They do say that Marlene Dietrich and young Gardner McKay have flipped.

* * *

There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that Governor Rockefeller's marriage to his "Happy" will completely kill his chances for a presidential nomination in '64. For one thing he has lost the vote of every woman over 40. And add lookalikes. The second Mrs. Rockefeller, and the first.

Labor Council Plan

Adult Education Centre Centennial Project?

A proposed adult education centre should be Greater Victoria's project for the 1967 Canadian centennial, Victoria labor delegates have agreed.

Ald. A. W. Toone, secretary-treasurer of the Victoria Labor Council, last night said the council will formally present the project for consideration as an official centennial project.

With senior government grants being available for both vocational training centres and centennial projects, the local taxpayer would be left with little of the cost of the project to bear, he said.

He said the vocational training centre would be especially suitable because "everyone in Greater Victoria from 16 to 96 would become involved in it."

He said it would be "not just giving a facility to any particular group or groups. It would provide service to a much broader group than any other facility that I can think of."

He pointed out the Greater Victoria school board had stressed the great versatility of the proposed centre. The board plans to set up a community committee to study the proposals for the centre.

BIG GEORGE! By Virgil Partch

"Right behind you—idiot!"

Electoral Signs

U.K. Soothsayer Needs Sharp Eyes

By ALAN HARVEY

LONDON (CP) — It takes a sharp-eyed soothsayer to read the electoral signs the way they're clouding up the crystal ball these days.

For the last few months party strategist Iain Macleod has been going around confidently predicting that the long-awaited British election will be held next year.

Now he is reported as reversing his field and confiding to party workers that they should be ready for an autumn election.

But in the same week, Conservative losses in local elections are interpreted by commentators as finally squelching the prospect of a ballot in the fall.

And when a bewildered reporter seeks guidance in Whitehall, he may be told that it is all a game of bluff and counter-bluff.

The sophisticated explanation is that Prime Minister Macmillan hasn't made up his mind, and that references to possible election dates, whatever their sources, are tossed out merely as political teasers.

These tantalizing references, it appears, are deliberately designed to keep the political opposition in a state of uncertainty. Already the word has gone out from Labor party headquarters to prepare for a nation-wide vote in October.

POSSIBLE BLUFF

But maybe even Labor is bluffing, trying to convince the Tories that it is banking on a fall election while secretly timing its preparations for a later date.

Amid all the moves and counter-moves, what is known is that the election must be held before October, 1964. Therefore Macmillan must make up his mind within the next few months whether to go to the country this year or wait until next spring.

After the disastrous winter of 1962-63, the Conservatives presumably will want to wait until the last ticking second in the hope that their luck will turn. But delay may involve a big gamble. If the weather in the winter of 1963-64 turns out to be as bad as last year, and if the Tories make as many blunders, there will hardly be time to retrieve their fortunes in 1964.

Perhaps the best bet is that if the sun shines warmly this summer and the opinion polls show a swing back to the Conservatives, the election will be held after all in October, confirming the guess some forecasters have clung to ever since election speculation started.

It's Flexible

New Suit Top Secret

NEW YORK (AP) — A businessmen's suit that flexes its muscles with the wearer, expands with his too - hearty lunches, and absorbs the sag in his breeches is just around the corner.

Last winter a few men tested them, and the stretch suits are scheduled for full-scale production in the fall.

CLASSIFIED

This information is treated by the industry as almost classified. Secrecy traditionally shrouds a rare men's wear innovation.

In the process of acquiring patents, DuPont Company admits that part-wool, part-synthetic fibres with elastic qualities are in the offing for men's suits from their laboratories, but declines to elaborate.

LESSON REMEMBERED

Also with patents pending, Burlington Mills has been quietly pioneering an all-wool stretch men's wear material for more than 16 months. A spokesman at the company said:

"Manufacturers are not exactly sneaking on to the market with these stretch suits, but they are being conservative. They were burned by all the noise made about so-called miracle fibres 10 years ago when the customer was disappointed. This time it's less talk, more action."

WOMEN ONLY

Originating in Switzerland during the Second World War, fibre with a rubbery springiness to it was monopolized by women's sportswear until recently. Exceptions were men's socks, which at first had a tendency to shrink until manufacturers found a way to stabilize sizes.

Because the narrow legs of stretch slacks do not constrict movement as ordinary materials do, the men's wear industry predicts that the currently popular narrow trousers may be trimmed even more. In fact, a fashion phase of tight, leotard-like pants, such as those worn in the 18th century, is not altogether out of the question in the future.

WON'T CLING

But stretch suits for men may be the big thing. Since certain garments can expand from 15 to 40 per cent, they automatically alter themselves on the hard-to-fit man.

A stretch suit gently adjusts, but unless the suit size is too small, it doesn't cling, manufacturers say.

When trade publications first hinted about men's stretchwear, Henry Sopkins of Atlanta, Ga., requested that a pair of tails be made for his work. In his gyrating job, he explained, the stretch suit would bear a real test.

And it has. He is conductor of the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra.

Poor Nations Need Help To Sell Goods

GENEVA (CP)—A round of tariff negotiations described as the keystone of the most ambitious trade expansion program in history began here Thursday with a U.S. plea for markets for the products of underdeveloped countries.

Christian Herter, chief U.S. delegate, told delegates of 73 countries money poured into the world's poorer countries would be wasted unless those countries also get help in selling their goods.

Osprey on Cliff

Birds at Teatime

By WOODY FISHER

SATURNA ISLAND — For the second year in a row, Jim and Lou Money of Saturna Island have the rare opportunity of watching, from their living room window, the nesting of a pair of osprey.

The osprey, a large white and brown bird often mistaken for a bald eagle, is rarely observed nesting, due to its habit of building the nest on the top of a high snag.

* * *

Ten days ago the Saturna Island osprey did the normal thing and built their nest of sticks on the top of a snag. However, there is a difference in this particular high, dead fir tree. It rises alongside a cliff face.

It just so happened Jim Money built his new house on top of the cliff and near the edge. The nest is at eye level with the Moneys' picture window.

* * *

The osprey don't seem to mind being watched and the female is now sitting on her eggs. The hatching will probably take place in the first June week. The osprey normally lays three eggs, but Mr. Money reports only one fledgling was raised last year.

According to Mr. Money, the fledgling was nearly full-grown before it was pushed out of the nest to take its first flight.

* * *

A full-grown osprey can have a wingspread of more than five feet.

Osprey, sometimes called fish hawk, live almost exclusively on fish they catch by plunging feet foremost into the water from a considerable height. It is a great diving bird and often will plunge so swiftly that it will disappear completely under the water.

* * *

When it comes up with a fish the osprey will shake the water from its feathers, rest a moment on the surface and then fly off toward its nest, always holding the fish so its head is pointing directly in the line of flight.

The osprey should never be mistaken for an eagle, for it is the only large bird of prey on North America sporting a white belly, whereas both the bald eagle and the golden eagle are dark.

* * *

While the osprey is known to be fierce in defence of its nest and young, the Moneys have noted a very small bird has a nest only 18 inches below the huge nest of the osprey. Neither bird seems to mind the other's presence.

The most fascinating thing to watch, according to the Moneys, is the feeding of the fledgling which has an enormous appetite. It keeps the parent birds continually swooping and diving for fish.

* * *

Having tea in the Moneys' living room is a unique experience at this time of year. Not many people can provide such rare entertainment or such a conversation piece as a nest of osprey.

Mexican Fiesta Huge Success

NANAIMO — A Mexican fiesta, complete with Mexican musicians, was held in Nanaimo Thursday.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, it was attended by more than 100 chamber members and their wives at the Tally-Ho motor hotel.

* * *

DUNCAN — Several Cowichan Valley riders will put in a strong bid at Victoria riding competitions over the Victoria Day weekend.

At the Victoria Riding Academy junior show today, eight members of the Cowichan branch of the pony club will participate, including Joan Noroross, Pam Grattan, Annette Mellalieu, Karen McDonald and Lynne Lister.

They all qualified for the Victoria show at the Easter event here. Entries for Monday's open show include Strathcona Lodge School student Stephanie Southam on Wisty, Joan Norcross on Whisper and Miss H. F. Rea on Easter Day.

Mrs. N. W. Joyce has entered three horses—Coke, Two Spots and Beau. Judges at the events are Elaine Osborne and Donalda Mahan.

* * *

NANAIMO — A giant seafood picnic on Newcastle Island is planned by the Nanaimo Kiwanis Club. The picnic will be held sometime in July as an inter-club affair with Vancouver Island Kiwanis and the Powell River club taking part. Kitsilano club in Vancouver will also be invited.

* * *

UCLUELET — Edward Yargason has been sentenced for 30 days at Oakalla prison on a charge of vagrancy by Magistrate J. F. Webb.

* * *

NANAIMO — A bursary of $100 has been donated to the Nanaimo school board by the Vancouver Island Women's Press Club.

* * *

TOFINO — It has been reported that a mining company is planning to open several mines in the Tofino area. Details could not be learned.

* * *

NANAIMO — Richard John Hodgkinson Friday was fined $25 for throwing beer bottles on the highway.

* * *

TOFINO — Halibut fishermen are reporting good catches and other fishermen are said to have had poor luck. Several fish boats are being readied to leave shortly.

* * *

DUNCAN — National Employment Service counselling night will be held at the office at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The service will be available to Grade 12 and 13 students from Duncan, Chemainus, Lake Cowichan and Shawnigan Lake schools. Thirty-five professional and lay counsellors will participate.

* * *

PARKSVILLE — Due to the large number of entries received for the junior Olympic training program branch meet here today time for the runoffs has been set ahead to 11 a.m., previously 1 p.m.

Window Display

PORT ALBERNI — Unemployment statistics here show a rise in the number of benefit claimants over the same period in 1962, but a decrease in the number of unplaced applicants.

According to a National Employment Service report for the Alberni and the West coast to Zeballos, there were 719 persons claiming benefits as compared to 682 last year. Unplaced applicants numbered 861 as compared with 888 last year.

* * *

DUNCAN — A month-long rescue course under the civil defence training program is in full swing with 18 Duncan residents participating, said civil defence co-ordinator for the Cowichan sector, E. C. Bolin. A mobile rescue truck is helping volunteer trainees. Instructor is Larry McPherson, of Duncan, and the course will end in two or three weeks.

* * *

NANAIMO — Mrs. B. F. Barnes of New Westminster has been elected president of the B.C. branch, Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Mrs. H. Dewitt of West Summerland is among the new vice-presidents of the organization.

Shawnigan Inspection Coming Up

One of the highlights of the Shawnigan Lake year, the annual Inspection Day Weekend of the Shawnigan Lake School for Boys, began last night.

The weekend activities, centering around the annual inspection Saturday of the school's cadet corps, included presentation of a George Bernard Shaw play last night and a gymnastic display, sports day and regatta following today's inspection.

There will be a formal dance tonight.

Chamber Seeks $2,500

PARKSVILLE — Parksville and District Chamber of Commerce has set $2,500 as its goal in the fund drive for tourist promotion. Jack Freeman is finance committee chairman.

One of the major expenses this year is $1,000 to go toward a joint advertising program with Qualicum Beach Chamber of Commerce. One proposal of the joint committee is to advertise in Prairie newspapers each week to promote tourist business and later to attract permanent residents to this area.

TOURIST BUREAU

Finances are also required by the Parksville Chamber for the operation of the tourist bureau which will open in Parksville about June 15.

The local chamber is at present without a president due to the resignation of Mrs. Mary Sutherland due to pressure of business. Election of a new chairman will be held June 11.

Winter Jobs For 407

PORT ALBERNI — Winter works program gave employment to 407 men in this area.

A report at Alberni Valley Winter Employment Committee meeting showed Alberni had employed 88 men, with 80 working for the full eight months. The remainder worked for six months.

Port Alberni had 37 men working under the incentive plan, most of them on a water works project now nearing completion.

Salt Spring Racers Meet

GANGES—House 3 scored the highest aggregate with 363 points, in the annual inter-house track meet of the Salt Spring Elementary-Secondary School, held Friday. House 1 was second with 50 points, and House 2 third with 433 points.

Championship trophies will be awarded to the following: Senior boys, Terry Slingsby; girls, Sandra Smith. Intermediate boys, Michael Bonar; girls, Jane Bambrick. Junior boys, Alan Perry; girls, Lorelie Nitsch.

Driver Fined

ALBERNI — Ronald Rogerson was fined $125 in Alberni court when he pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

The charge was laid following a recent collision on River Road in which damages amounted to approximately $300.

The peak of Mount Everest in the Himalayas, tallest mountain in the world, is 29,028 feet above sea level.

Liberals Weather Barrage

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—Some of the new ministers were nervous. Otherwise the Liberal government weathered its first big test in the Commons with a willing exchange of political barbs.

Stretching to a lengthy hour and 15 minutes, the initial question period was heavily laden with queries — and answers—framed as much for political stores as information. Speaker Alan Macnaughton's calls to order were infrequent but firm.

TORIES JEER

At one point, the gleeful Conservative opposition benches burst into jeers and laughter when, having challenged Finance Minister Walter Gordon to "unpeg" the dollar, they got this reply: ". . . In my view it is the responsibility of all honorable members of this House . . . not to cast any doubts upon the strength or permanence of the dollar."

When in opposition, the Liberals were severely critical of the former Conservative government's decision in May, 1962 to peg the dollar to 92½ cents in exchange for the American dollar.

HOLD DOLLAR LINE

Mr. Gordon said Friday the government will do everything possible to hold the dollar to its present exchange rate.

In his dignified manner, Justice Minister Lionel Chevrier scored one for the Liberals by telling Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) that departmental files reveal no trace of any legal opinion on which the former government imposed import surcharges by order-in-council last June.

"AS SUSPECTED"

This was as the Liberals, when in opposition, "suspected at the time," Mr. Chevrier said. The Conservatives were silent.

It recalled the bitter scrap of last session when the opposition tried unsuccessfully to get finance minister Donald Fleming to table the legal opinion. Several suits now have been filed in the Exchequer Court of Canada to recover the surcharges, since dismantled.

SHORT SPEECHES

Moving the address in reply to the speech from the throne, Pauline Jewett (L — Northumberland) spoke less than 15 minutes instead of the 40 minutes to which she was entitled. The seconder, Auguste Choquette (L-Lotbiniere), took less than 10 minutes.

The debate resumes Monday when the House meets at 2:30 p.m. EDT. It will be the so-called "leader's day" — with speeches from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, Prime Minister Pearson, Social Credit Leader Thompson and New Democratic Leader Douglas, in that order.

Liquor Store Staff Suspended

DAWSON CREEK (CP) — The manager and four-man staff of the British Columbia government liquor store here were suspended following an investigation by the Liquor Control Board. It was reported Friday.

Col. Donald McGugan, liquor board chairman, would not comment on the report other than to say that it was an internal matter.

U.S. Cuts Relations With Haiti

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has cut off all diplomatic contacts with the Haitian government of Francois Duvalier for the past three days, officials disclosed.

State department informants said the action was not a formal "suspension" of diplomatic relations in the usual diplomatic sense of the word.

* * *

"There just haven't been any contacts," one official said. He said there had been no diplomatic contacts between the U.S. embassy in Port-au-Prince and the Haitian government or between the Haitian embassy here since Tuesday night.

Officials here said that if some incident occured requiring diplomatic contacts, they could be immediately re-established as though there had been no break.

* * *

Such a case might arise if an American citizen in Haiti were arrested and in need of diplomatic protection.

Flood Aid 100 Per Cent

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — A policy providing for 100 per cent compensation for residential property and 80 per cent for personal effects was established Friday by the Northwest Territories council for flood-stricken residents of Hay River and Fort Simpson.

Compensation costs will be shared by the territorial and federal governments.

From CP and AP

Government anti-combines investigators are checking sugar prices, the House of Commons was told Friday as the wholesale price of sugar was pushed to $16 per 100 pounds by one Montreal sugar refinery.

Wholesale price Jan. 1 was $9.10.

Tom Barnett (NDP—Comox-Alberni) asked Justice Minister Chevrier if he had made inquiries regarding prices in Canada rising "drastically" compared with those in the U.S.

Mr. Chevrier replied information indicates that was not the case, but the combines branch was looking into the matter.

BEET PRODUCTION

Agriculture Minister Harry Hays, replying to an earlier question, said measures to stimulate sugar beet production are under consideration.

In Montreal, three major sugar refineries announced price increases of 75 cents per 100 pounds. These included Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., St. Lawrence Sugar Refineries Ltd. and Canada and Dominion Sugar Co. Ltd.

RAISED AGAIN

A short time later, Canada and Dominion Sugar said it had raised its price again, this time by 10 cents. It was the fifth increase this week for Canada and Dominion Sugar, the fourth for the other refineries.

In New York, there was speculation sugar price hikes soon will be reflected at the grocery store level in higher prices for candy, preserves, soft drinks, ice cream, syrups and other sugar-using items.

SMALLER PACKS

They may even lead to smaller packs of chewing gum, one producer said.

But nothing was in sight to match the doubling of retail prices that has hit some communities in Brazil, and severe dislocations in some other countries.

In the background is a tightening of the world sugar supply rooted in crop troubles and harvest difficulties in Europe, Cuba and other growing areas.

The shortage sent sugar issues spiralling on the New York Stock Exchange.

A wholesale price increase by major New York-based refiners earlier this week was the 12th of the year, lifting one key grade to $14.20 for 100 pounds.

ABRUPT COLLAPSE

The level was the highest since the world-wide sugar shortage following the First World War when prices skyrocketed to roughly twice the present height, then abruptly collapsed.

Some experts predict a continued climb until fall when growers in the U.S. and Europe begin harvesting sugar beets, a cheaper substitute for the scarce variety produced from cane.

NEW ENGLAND

Already, many housewives in the New England area are paying seven cents more for a five-pound bag or carton of sugar, the result of gradual increases in recent months.

Several candymakers have reported rises in wholesale prices, and some—including the Walter H. Johnson Candy Company of Chicago—say they are considering a reduction in the size of bars.

* * *

Candy, Cookies

Confections Face Rise

Wholesale sugar prices hit a new high in Canada Friday and it looks as if the increase will be reflected in consumer costs for candy and cookies.

But indications are carbonated beverages will stay at the same price . . . at least for the time being.

"I think any commodity related to sugar, our own included, will have to go up," A. W. O'Keeffe, Victoria representative for Paulin Chambers Ltd., said last night.

EFFECTIVE JUNE 1

"Our latest quote from head office is there will be an increase in the price of biscuits effective June 1 at the wholesale level.

"Cost of bulk candy has risen very slightly on two occasions recently and there possibly will be a slight reduction in the weight of bag candy and chocolate bars to keep them at 10 cents. Our box chocolates have gone up four to five cents a box."

Noel Wolfe, managing director of Victoria Beverages Ltd., said he could not forecast a price rise in the immediate future.

"We had an increase two weeks ago at the wholesale level —15 cents a case. It is up to the retailer how he sets his prices, of course, but we kept it as small as possible.

ALL DEPENDS

"There is no intent to make a move again, for the time being. It all depends on how high the price goes."

For the housewife, the skyrocketing price of sugar is definitely reflected in her food bill. In January a 10-pound bag of sugar cost 97 cents; today it will cost $1.77.

Frail Boy Pulls Man from Tracks

MALDEN, Mass. (UPI)—A 13-year-old asthmatic boy dragged a 67-year-old man off railroad tracks Thursday seconds before a train sped by. He then hurried away so he wouldn't be late for instructions from a tutor.

* * *

Police said Paul Broussard, who had suffered from asthma since birth and weighs only 72 pounds, was on his way to special classes when he saw a man trip on railroad tracks while trying to get out of the way of a train.

Paul raced to the track and pulled the man, Francis O'Rourke, to safety as the train sped by, inches away.

* * *

The boy, who did not identify himself then turned and hurried away. He was en route to special tutoring classes to make up for school time lost because of illness.

Police, train officials and others were trying to identify the heroic child when, hours later, Mrs. Louis Broussard was discussing a newspaper report of the incident with her son.

* * *

Paul said he had a difficult time pulling O'Rourke to safety.

"I knew the man couldn't help himself and someone had to and I was there."

Montreal Terror Spreads

MONTREAL (CP) — Terrorists struck with time - bombs placed in mail boxes Friday.

Explosions caused critical injury to an army explosives expert, shattered six mail boxes and damaged property.

Five more bombs were found in mail boxes and dismantled. Five suspected bombs were hauled to safety—mail boxes and all—to await dismantling.

Sgt.-Maj. Walter Rolland Leja, 45-year-old bomb demolition expert with the Royal Canadian Engineers, suffered serious injuries when a time-bomb he was removing from a mail box exploded.

Earlier he had dismantled one bomb and placed another in an open field to await dismantling or demolition later.

* * *

At St. Mary's Hospital, doctors amputated his left arm at the elbow, then worked on his chest and face injuries. He was on the operating table about five hours, the army said.

Police did not attribute the bombings to any person or terrorist organization. However, an outlaw separatist group—le Front de Liberation Quebecois—has claimed responsibility in mailed press statements for a series of bombings in recent months.

One such bombing, at the rear of an army recruiting station here, caused the death of night watchman W. V. O'Neill, 65, April 20.

The series of bombings Friday kept residential Westmount on the alert for more than seven hours. Westmount, a separate municipality of about 32,000 is entirely surrounded by Montreal territory in the west-central part of the city. About two-thirds of its population is English-speaking.

* * *

About 3 a.m. the first of five bombs in mail boxes exploded. The explosions, within 20 minutes, were in widely-scattered points of Westmount, including one a stone's throw from the municipality's police station.

Lesage Fights Bombs With 'Special Efforts'

QUEBEC (CP)—Premier Lesage, who attended a cabinet meeting Friday against his doctor's orders, said he has asked Quebec Provincial Police to make "special efforts" to break a ring of bomb-planting terrorists in the province.

"I have asked the provincial police to make special efforts and to report to me," he said following a 2½-hour cabinet sitting.

Mr. Lesage had been ordered to rest Friday to clear up a heavy cold contracted during his recent trip to Europe.

Soldiers Injured

FREDERICTON (CP) — Six members of the 1st Regiment Royal Canadian Horse Artillery were injured at Camp Gagetown Friday when a 105-millimetre shell exploded prematurely. The men were taking part in training exercises.

Frontier Buildup By Red Chinese

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The Indian government said Friday Communist China has been concentrating increasing numbers of troops along the disputed frontier with India.

Chinese troops have infiltrated into the neutralized zone at one point in the Ladakh area and India has protested the action in a note to Peking, a foreign office spokesman said.

Regent Towers

14-Storey High-Rise Apartment
415 Michigan St.,
Victoria

Regent Towers

Graceful convenience, spacious comfort and a variety of floor plans are offered in Regent Tower's 14 floors of suites.

Four plans are available, each of them soundproofed, off fully-carpeted, pressurized corridors, where a balance of fresh air keeps temperatures comfortable in the apartments.

All but the bachelor suites have recessed, private balconies reached by sliding glass panels off the living room areas, expanding them to the out-of-doors.

Exposures on the four sides of the building are available.

Each kitchen has built-in cupboards and appliances—pastel-toned stoves and slope-door refrigerators, arborite counter-tops and mahogany woodwork.

The colored bathroom fixtures are arranged in vanity style, and the two-bedroom suites have two baths, the second having walk-in shower instead of tub.

All suites have copious closet and cupboard space.

TWO BEDROOMS

This two-bedroom floor plan is offered from $149 at second-floor level, and rises by only $1.50 a floor for the increasingly splendid view storey by storey. Its balcony, twin baths and ample living-dining space make it a gem of gracious, high-rise living.

ONE BEDROOM

This version of the one-bedroom suite is available with private balcony and dining area for $119 up. It has hall and cupboards, all-electric kitchen and—like all Tower suites—acoustic-textured ceilings.

BACHELOR

Bachelor quarters start at a low $79 for those who wish to avoid the cares of formal housekeeping. Living rooms are roomy rooms, going to 20-foot length with 12 feet of picture window.

ONE BEDROOM

Economy one-bedroom apartment is priced from $109, comes without dining area, but has the other amenities of Regent Tower suites, including spun glass curtains across picture window.

Regent Towers

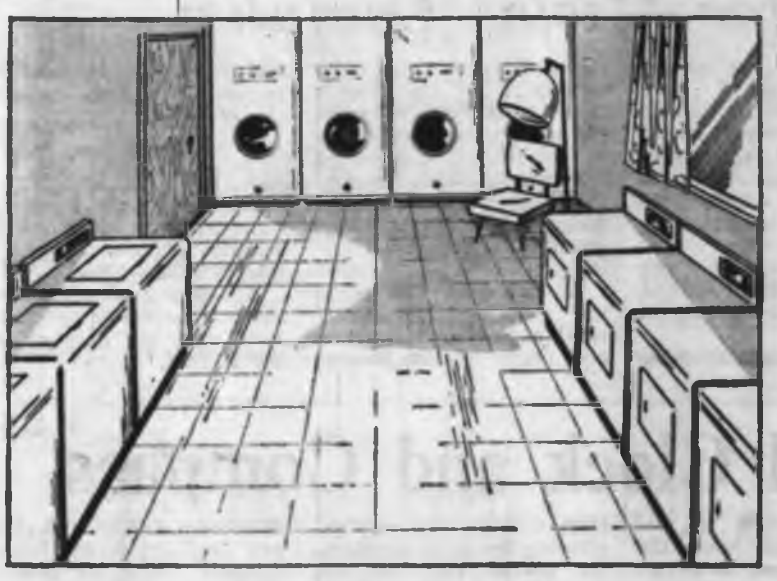
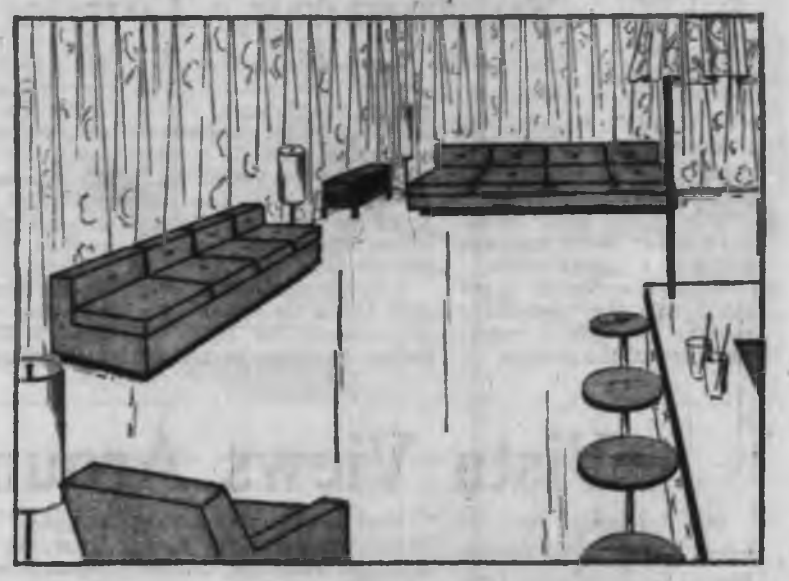
Frosted tops of Olympic Mountains looming over Juan de Fuca Strait and Victoria's Outer Harbor make unexcelled seascape from atop Regent Towers and many suites.

Northward from the upper floors, the view reveals dwarfed Parliament Buildings and bird's-eye view of fabled Empress Hotel across a miniature Inner Harbor moorage.

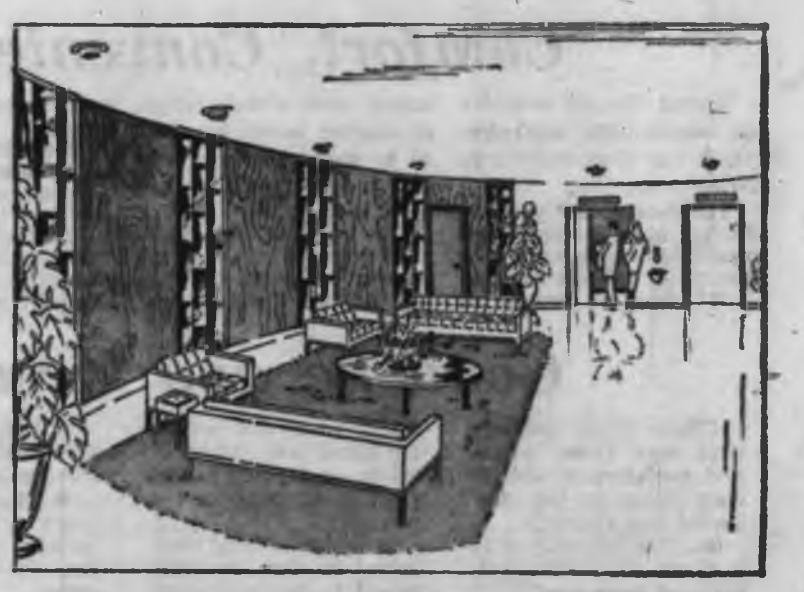


Ground-floor facilities for automatic or hand laundering, including clothes and hair dryers, ironing boards, soft drink and other coin-vending machines.



The entertainment suite—available by booking—makes having guests a real pleasure, and is large enough for dancing. No worry of disturbing neighbors.

Entrance mural bears motif of the nearby waterfront, twisted trees along Holland Point and the awesome range of 7,000-foot Olympics across the strait in U.S.A.



Quiet elegance of modern lobby by Noden makes a soothing place to meet the arrival of guests or taxicab for an evening out at a downtown theatre, just 12 blocks away.

Variety, Color, View in New High-Rise

Opening today of Regent Towers marks the ultimate in urban living with unparalleled outlooks on Victoria, its environs, its marinescape and mainland mountains.

Only the first step in a projected apartment complex along old Michigan Street — once the fashionable thoroughfare of James Bay—Regent Towers combines convenience with seclusion, economy with luxury and soon will provide for a self-contained recreation centre.

Its 14 stories rise white and yellow, high on the southern edge of the Parliament precinct just off Menzies.

Inside the monolithic tower practically all the 120 apartments have an enviable view of beautiful Victoria.

A variety of floor plans allows a tenant his choice of suites, starting with the basic bachelor apartment with wide picture window, ranging up to the two-bedroom suite with private balcony.

And if company is expected, a guest suite may be booked in advance to accommodate them during their stay.

Similarly, when entertaining a large gathering, a tenant may book a special ground-floor party suite with plenty of room for all.

From the moment an arrival steps from his car under the wide entrance portico into the semi-spherical, walnut and mirrored rotunda by Noden of Vancouver, his shoes will feel the richness of carpeted elegance.

His steps will take him quietly to the twin elevators that will whisk him silently with electronic speed to a desired floor, then along a sound-proofed corridor to his suite.

There will be ample room for his car on a paved lot set back from the street.

The reinforced concrete and masonry high-rise has been abuilding for eight months under general contractor C. J. Oliver, of Vancouver, on a plan by Peter M. Smith, Vancouver architect.

Live 'High'— Save Housekeeping Costs

The savings involved in Regent Towers apartment dwelling could be $50 a month, for the average three-bedroom homeowner.

Allowing a margin for incidentals, a person paying $210 a month in home expenses—from mortgage to loss of interest on down payment, utilities, taxes, repairs and insurance—saves $50 by taking a $149 a month two-bedroom suite.

This is calculated on an average Victoria house valued at $15,000, having a $5,000 down payment.

| | |
|---|---|
| Interest loss on $5,000 | $ 25 |
| Mortgage instalment | 85 |
| Taxes | 20 |
| Light and water | 10 |
| Heat | 20 |
| Repairs and maintenance | 25 |
| Home improvements | 10 |
| Insurance | 5 |
| Total | $210 |

At the Regent, good-looking, comfortable two-bedroom apartments are available from $149 a month. Adding $5 for utilities brings it up to $154, plus $6 margin = $50 saving.

Where's the third bedroom? Why, the Tower's two guest suites, available by prior booking for out-of-town visitors, provide that extra room when needed.

Furthermore there are no lawn-mowing or gardening responsibilities, no furnace repairs or other home upkeep, leaving tenants more leisure time to enjoy Victoria.

Proximity of the apartment building to downtown Victoria makes transportation costs negligible. The centre of the business area is a short walk from the doorstep, with no traffic to fight.

Swimming, Tennis for 'Twin' Complex

Developer is Chartered Investments, of Edmonton, which plans to erect a matching tower on the same site, adjoining the green on Menzies.

This second tower would have fewer, more spacious suites at a higher rental.

Work is expected to begin within the next three months, predicts a representative of the owners.

In the intervening space — some 150 feet — will be the recreation area, partly landscaped and including a swimming pool, tennis courts and bowling green.

The fronts of the two buildings will face each other across the pool and garden area.

Accommodation in Regent Towers is suitable for all walks of life, from the career bachelor to retired folk seeking economical, worry-free living.

Without the burden of utilities and upkeep, insurance, taxes and other homeowner expenses, a tenant may live comfortably for less than he would by owning his home.

Average home cost per month is calculated at $210, and the rates at Regent start at $79.

Besides the breathtaking views that get more spectacular from the fourth floor up, a Regent tenant has privacy and security—he can screen visitors by intercom without leaving his suite—yet he has easy access to the markets and amenities of downtown Victoria.

A half-dozen churches are within 15 minutes' walk, as are the Inner Harbor, Outer Wharf, Beacon Hill Park, the Legislative Buildings, theatres, department stores, brokerages and transportation facilities.

Public transit routes come within a block of the building; streets are paved and lighted.

Vista Views Around Clock and Compass

The compass has 32 points—the Regent Towers has 10 times as many from its spacious, airy sun deck 140 feet over James Bay.

These are the daytime sights starting with the sunrise:

East — Government House, Beacon Hill Park, South Fairfield, earlier, shorter high-rise apartments, Gonzales.

South — The Olympic Range and Peninsula with a glimpse of Port Angeles, Juan de Fuca Strait and shipping heading to and from the high seas, the breakwater and Dallas Road waterfront, Outer Wharf and harbor entrance.

West—Macdonald Park, Victoria West, Esquimalt, Metchosin and the Sooke Hills along the skyline, offering the most spectacular sunset vista on the lower Island.

North — The Inner Harbor with its dwarfed Empress Hotel and Parliament Buildings, the full length of Superior Street, downtown district and skyline reaching from Craigdarroch Castle to Mount Tolmie, Mount Douglas and Little Saanich Mountain.

All around — the patchwork blend of multicolored rooftops and green foliage of the city of gardens.

Comfort, Convenience, Safety Wired-In

Regent Towers provides its tenants with "total electric living" from laundry to living room.

Foremost is the security feature in an intercom system linking each suite with the main, locked entrance.

It allows a tenant to screen each visitor before an electric switch is pressed to open the door, providing a safeguard to personal security.

The lobby, laundry room, entertainment suite and elevators are wired for music, lending a soft, background sound to the atmosphere.

The twin elevators themselves are efficiently and automatically electric for a swift, safe, smooth ride.

Lighting throughout the building is suited to the purpose — bright where needed, soft where the subtle touch is required.

All appliances are electric, from the washers and dryers in the ground floor laundry to the ranges and refrigerators in colored enamel in each suite.

Each suite has its individual television antenna outlet, practically guaranteeing the finest video reception in the area.

Hot water heating has individual baseboard control.

Gouache and Mosaic to Glass Curtains

Check these features built into Tower suites and corridors to add to easy living in the new James Bay district:

- Ten apartments to a floor—six with semi-recessed balconies.
- Oak parquet floors in each suite, burnished to glittering brilliance.
- Regal decor, featuring royal red carpeting along soft grey corridors, each with a gold vinyl motif opposite the elevators.
- Neighborhood character in the entrance mural an impressionistic scrub tree gouache against the Dallas Road waterfront and Oympic peaks.
- Mirrored lobby with walnut panels and soft music.
- Ground-floor mail room, with convenient laundry and drying facilities — including a hair-dryer.
- Enclosed, fireproof stair wells at each end of the block.
- A metal garbage chute centrally located in each corridor.
- Glass curtains on picture windows with inner drapery track provided.
- Individual kitchen and bath vents with air flow shutters.
- Walk-in closets, some large enough to be used as dressing rooms.
- Mosaic tile baths, all with showers some with walk-in style in second bath off master bedroom.
- Two-bedroom suites allow first bedroom to be switched to study or den.
- Vinyl floors, colored arborite countertops in kitchen—all with stainless steel sinks.

Regent Towers

COMPLETED COMPLEX ON MICHIGAN STREET

Like a pair of ivory sculptures landscaped in jade against a backdrop of sea-girt peaks—this is how Chartered Investments visualize the Regent Towers Apartment complex within 18 months of today's opening of the high-rise sketched at the right. Between them will be a recreation area for the pleasure of tenants who care to swim, play badminton or lawn bowling, with landscaped areas of tree, shrub and flower.

Right next door, to the left, is more greenery—James Bay Playground's 2½ acres of lawn, trees and children's swings. To the rear, ample paved parking will take care of scores of cars. The proposed addition will be the same 14-storey height as the first unit, with a smaller number of suites having the same spectacular views of Victoria and its marine doorstep. But the developers hope to add more refinements and living area to the second unit to provide for a choice of apartment dwellings at somewhat higher rental.

The pool—to measure 50 by 25 feet, large by most standards—will delight swim fan tenants of the twin towers who will be only a few steps away from poolside, no matter which floor they live on. Landscaping screen will provide cover from Michigan Street for lounging sunbathers. For non-swimmers, there are sun roofs atop the buildings, 140 feet above the streets where only the shadows of birds fall. The views from there are astounding, equalled only by helicopter flights over downtown or James Bay, Victoria. The ship-watcher may peer with ease over Beacon Hill and see clearly most way up the Inner Harbor.

Still, the buildings will be a mere stroll from the heart of the business district, shopping, theatres, government offices, bus and ferry terminals. Proximity to these, plus the beauties of nature along the waterfront or Beacon Hill Park, make the complex ideal for either the career-minded business person or those of later years who seek the leisure and convenience of apartment life without the burden of high rents and distance from community activities. And all will appreciate the absence of duties and extra expense associated with home-owning.

Should guests be expected, a "spare room" may always be booked for them, a feature usually provided only by households, but available at Regent Tower as a convenience to keep friends under the same roof.

For whatever the reason, living at the Regent can be a rewarding and fulfilling experience.
